Christmas canata is schedule

The Community United Methodist Church will present a Christmas Canata beginning at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 20 at the church located at 11160 Olive Street.

The canata, "Love Transcending" by John W. Peterson, will be under the direction of Ada Scott.

Woman's death is investigated

Romulus police are continuing their investigation into the death of Debrah Lynn Culver, 19, of Van Buren who was struck by at least two cars while trying to cross I-94.

Miss Culver was reported dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital.

Goodfellow reach goal

Despite the depressed economy, the Huron Goodfellows reached and surpassed their goal this year, according to Russell Wilson, president of the Goodfellows.

"We exceeded $2,000 with our paper sales and I would like to thank a lot of people for their efforts," Wilson said. "Even in these difficult times people again came through to make sure kids were not left with a Christmas."

Wilson had a long list of groups he wished to thank, including the police and fire departments, township officials, school board members, EMG emergency units and "a lot more," he says.

The Goodfellows will be screening eligible candidates for eligible families to present them with Gift Certificates that will be redeemable for merchandise at local stores.

If you know of a family whom you think needs help, please telephone 753-4387.

A Christmas blessing

Helping Hand helpers and the Christian Services Commission at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus will hold their annual Christ Child shower on Dec. 19 and 20 at the church.

A box will be placed in the church to receive contributions of new baby items, particularly sweater sets, and financial donations for the needy.

Further information on the charitable project can be obtained by calling Helping Hand at 941-5323.

Welcome to Romulus, Santa

On a cold but glimmering Romulus night, Santa came to town aboard a fire engine and was immediately greeted by a host of dignitaries and residents at city hall. Handing Santa the "key to the city" is Mayor William Oakley. Also on hand is parks and recreation director Dennis Davidson and Santa has with him his able helper Who else? In the photo below, the kids rush to meet their favorite star.

Santa's arrival on Main at City Hall, and most of the youngsters brought with them a long list of toys and joys they want for Christmas.

Van Buren ready to fight state over toxic waste

Police set up 24-hour patrol at landfill site

While Van Buren Township police stand vigil at the landfill, township, county and state officials are working frantically behind the scenes to make certain that toxic wastes are not dumped in Van Buren.

Howard Tanner, Director of the Department of Natural Resources, and Larry Holcomb, Toxic Substance Control Commission Administrator, last week announced that the state intended to dispose of toxic substances generated by Berlin-Farro Incineration Company at the Wayne Disposal Corporation Landfill in Van Buren.

"We intend to do everything in our power to stop this," said Patricia Cullin, Van Buren Township Supervisor. "Basically, all the laws and the statutes state that the control of toxic wastes is up to the state and county."

"However, that doesn't stop us from using whatever political clout and contacts we have with the state to try and prevent this disaster," Mrs. Cullin continued. "I have contacted our state senator and our state representative, and I've asked for a copy of the minutes of that meeting where supposedly the approval was given to dump the waste."

Mrs. Cullin said that the township has posted a police officer at the landfill to check on arrival of trucks and prevent any dumping of toxic wastes.

"The landfill operator, of course, said he will not take the toxic waste and we feel that that interpretation of the state act doesn't require him to do so. Holcomb said that he will get a court order to force the landfill operator to permit the dumping, but the landfill owner replied he'd get his attorney to fight it, and we intend to offer our help."

Cullin pointed out that "it wasn't the township's problem, but the state has sure made it ours and we're going to spend a lot of money and effort to make sure that Holcomb doesn't get his way."

In the meanwhile, both State Senator William Faust and state rep. Gary Owen have come out strongly against the DNR plan.

Senate Majority Leader Faust (D-Westland), angry over Thursday's announced plan to dump toxic wastes in a Van Buren Township landfill, has directed the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Toxic Substance Control Commission to stop the shipments scheduled to begin Monday.

"We want it stopped," Faust and State Rep. Gary Owen (D-Ypsilanti) told Howard Tanner, DNR Director, and Larry Holcomb, Toxic Substance Control Commission Administrator, in letters sent to them Thursday.

Faust said he was "shocked" by Thursday's newspaper report that indicated the Toxic Substance Control Commission had unilaterally decided to dispose of toxic substances from the Berlin & Farro Liquid Incineration Company chemical waste site near Swartz Creek at the Wayne Disposal Corporation landfill.

The sludge and soil at the site reportedly are contaminated with PCB's, heavy metals and a pesticide component. Many of the chemicals at the site are proven or suspected cancer agents. Furthermore, it has been indicated that the decision to dump the wastes at the Van Buren Township landfill is neither cost effective nor practical since it is unlikely that Wayne Disposal could accept all of the contaminated sludge and soil.

Faust told Tanner that "efforts should commence immediately to create harmony between your department and the Toxic Substance Control Commission to protect our environment."

"I, too, shall certainly take any and all

Council ready?

City resumes Cable debate

Romulus City Council was to take up the unfinished business of awarding a cable TV franchise to one of three competing firms last night after the previous council failed to pick a company.

With four new members on council, at least one council member feels he will need more time to determine who'll get the local franchise.

"Although I have been kept informed about most of the dialogue," said newly-elected councilman John Lewkowicz, "in such important matters, of this nature, I just feel we need more time to determine who should get the franchise."

Lewkowicz said Monday night he intends to "table" the discussion at Tuesday's regular Council meeting in order for those who were newly-elected to have an opportunity to ask all the pertinent questions necessary before making their decision.

Three firms — Comcast Cablevision, Cable of Plymouth, and Barden Cablevision are asking for the right to construct this city's first cable TV network. Lewkowicz, along with the three newcomers to council — Alan Lambert, Barry Baumann, and Pete Bergeron — were given an opportunity to discuss cable TV and the franchise over special telephone hook-up in City Hall last Thursday with Dr. Thomas Muth.

Dr. Muth, a member of the Elra Cable TV consulting firm of Ann Arbor, was hired to review and submit to the city an analysis of the three proposals from the competing firms.

However, Dr. Muth has reportedly suffered a heart attack and has not been available for direct questioning by council since last month.

In other council action last week, newly-elected city clerk Ray Cantrell, has asked for and received council permission to advertise for bids for an audit of the clerk's office and department.

Cantrell said that he felt that audit was "necessary to get off on the right foot in this department."

Council approved the recommendation unanimously.

City slaps back at DetRo

Romulus city officials today launched their own counter-offensive against DetRo Recovery which, according to them, are "using highly unethical and every device in the book" to construct a sludge plant in the city.

DetRo recently advertised in metropolitan and local newspapers for "hired help" and asked prospective employees to show up at a Romulus Council meeting to assert pressure on the city.

DetRo hoped that the pressure would help persuade council to give DetRo approval to build the plant.

In an unassigned release from the city, officials stated:

"Warning to residents of Romulus:

"In order to be fair to those persons seeking employment who have or expect to respond to the recent advertisement run by DetRo Recovery Products for employment, please be advised that this is not a city sponsored or approved project. "In fact, because of serious health and environmental concerns, the city has refused to issue approval for either of the two sites that have thus far been proposed."

"Last week, the Romulus City Council authorized an appeal from an adverse court ruling indicating its continued opposition to this project and its firm resolve to persist in its disapproval of DetRo's proposed sludge composting facility until those health and environmental questions are adequately responded to."

"For these reasons the city government has expressed a firm moral commitment to oppose this potentially dangerous project even if this means that the parties must struggle through a lengthy appeal process in order to get those questions answered," the statement concluded.

31 percent hike

Van Buren gets walloping tax increase

This may be the season to be jolly, but it also is the season for tax bills. The 1981 tax bills have been mailed to Van Buren property owners and those taxes will reflect an increase, according to township treasurer, Tom Welty.

"Taxes for property classified as residential have increased by approximately 31 percent over the 1980 rates," Welty said.

"While Van Buren Township is responsible for collecting the taxes, we have no control over the amount of the tax bill," Welty explained. "Wayne County assesses the property and the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation sets the county equalization factor."

Wayne County's equalization factor for Van Buren was increased from 2.78 in 1980 to 3.655 in 1981. The 31 percent tax increase is a result of the increased equalization factor.

Welty revealed that the Van Buren Township Board is planning to join with Ypsilanti Township in a lawsuit against the state to challenge the way residential property tax rates are fixed and determined.

"I urge every property owner to contact our state Senator (William Faust) and State Representative (Gary Owen) to protest this tax increase and to insist that some form of tax relief be provided," Welty added.

The 1981 Van Buren taxes are distributed as follows:

Township operation, 1.9%; Water/sewer bonds, 11.2%; Peoples Community Hospital Authority, 7%; County Operation, 13.2%; Van Buren Schools, 69.0%; Wayne County Intermediate Schools (Special Ed.), 2.0%; Community College Operation, 1.5%; and Huron/Clinton Metro Park Operation, 5%.

CME plans seminar and Open House

A Continuing Medical Education Seminar and Open House, sponsored by the Oakwood Hospital Department of Medical Education, will be held Monday afternoon, Dec. 14, and conclude later that evening with a reception and tour of the new Maternal and Child Health Care Center.

The Maternal and Child Health Care Center is a major part of the East Addition to the main hospital building. The dedication of the $8.5 million East Addition will be held Thursday afternoon, Dec. 17.

"It is partially a celebration and partially an introduction," said Carl A. Gagliardi, M.D., director of the Department of Medical Education. The celebration is for the opening of the Maternal and Child Health Care Center, with both Oakwood physicians and those from other area hospitals then having an opportunity to tour the center.

Gagliardi said participation is expected from physicians associated with Heritage, Outer Drive, Wyandotte General, Seaway, Riverside, Ann Arbor and Garden City Osteopathic hospitals.

At the same time, several special guests are expected to attend, including Herman A. Ziel Jr., M.D., chief, Bureau of Health Care — Administration, Michigan Department of Public Health, and William Montgomery, M.D., chairman, District V (including Michigan, Indiana and Ohio), American Academy of Pediatrics.

Those who are scheduled to participate in the two-hour program, which will be held in the Oakwood Hospital auditorium, include Gagliardi; Oakwood President Gerald D. Fitzgerald; Cornelius Navori, M.D., chief of Oakwood's Department of Obstetrics/Gynecology; Robert Dustin, M.D., director of Oakwood's Obstetrics/Gynecology Residency Program; and Mary Kokosky, M.D., director of Neonatology at Oakwood.

Scheduled speakers include Tommy Evans, M.D., professor and chairman of the Department of Obstetrics/Gynecology, Wayne State University, who will discuss "High-Risk Patients and Cesarean Sections"; Walter Schoen, M.D., director of Maternal-Fetal Medicine at Oakwood, who will focus on "Fetal Monitoring"; and Ronald Poland, M.D., director of the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, Children's Hospital, and associate professor of Pediatrics at Wayne State University, who will discuss "Neonatal ICU: Costs vs. Benefits."

The program offers two hours of continuing medical education credit for each participant.

Billy Sims to appear at Center Stage

Billy Sims and three additional Detroit Lion team mates will be spending an evening with local sport fans watching and analyzing the regular Monday night football game between Atlanta and Los Angeles, Dec. 14 at Center Stage, located at 39940 Ford Road in Canton (1/4 mile east of I-275).

Joining Sims will be teammates Ed Murray, Ray Oldham and Ames Fowler.

Al Ackerman, popular WDIV-TV 4 sportscaster, will be host for the evening which will feature a half time question and answer period with the fans in addition to the on-going commentary by the players.

The game will be seen on a large 16x20 screen.

Eric Hipple, Lion quarterback, will be joined by two additional Lions on Monday, December 21 at which time a drawing for two tickets for Super Bowl XVI will be drawn. All who attend the "Monday night football with the Lions" events will qualify for the drawing.

Stan White, players representative of the Lions stated, "We are looking forward to meeting our fans in a relaxed evening of football viewing and to be able to help raise needed funds to support the programs and services provided by the Tri-County Easter Seal Societies."

Admission is a $5 donation to the Easter Seal Society and tickets are avail-

Could accept partial tax payments

House Bill gives local units of government new tax powers

A bill recently approved by the House would give local units of government clear legal authority to accept partial payments of property taxes, according to State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D) Romulus.

If the local government approves it, property owners could make a partial payment of 25 percent or more of their taxes or special assessments, then pay the rest later.

Mahalak strongly supports the bill. "In these times of high unemployment and steadily rising property taxes, there are great numbers of people who have to struggle to pay their property taxes," Mahalak said. "Some simply can't pay the full tax bill at one time. By allowing the local treasurer to accept payment of 25 percent of the tax, it would allow local government to provide assistance to those who cannot pay the full tax bill at one time due to layoffs, job loss or temporary poverty."

He noted that there are already a number of local treasurers who accept partial payments because they realize that economic conditions have caused many to lose jobs, and they do not want to force people into tax delinquency.

"While local charter acts do not forbid the acceptance of these partial payments, state law does not say that they can be accepted," Mahalak said. "The bill would correct this by writing the authority to accept part payments into state law."

He added, "This legislation recognizes that times are hard in Michigan and that we must give special consideration to honest property owners who are willing to share in the cost of government, yet do not have the money to pay their tax obligation in one lump."

Ho! Ho! Ho!

With a jolly Ho Ho Ho, that man of the hour — Santa Claus — showed up Friday night in Romulus to take part in the traditional city's Christmas Tree Lighting. He was a welcomed sight as children — big and small — gathered around him to fill him in on a year's happenings in the big city. Santa promises, despite the ailing economy to do everything possible to make 1981, a very "Merry Christmas" for everyone.

Santa Comes to town

Excitement was in the air. A crowd of all ages had gathered in Romulus in eager anticipation.

Thoughts of a sagging economy were forgotten this Friday night. Santa Claus was coming to town.

Jolly ole' St. Nick arrived right on schedule from the North Pole riding on a fire engine, smiling and waving to an appreciative throng of enthusiastic supporters. Suddenly all seemed right with the world as Santa reminded everyone of the peace and love that a "Merry Christmas" signifies.

They appeared in force to greet this welcomed visitor — elected officials, administrators, parents, single adults, senior citizens and, oh yes, plenty of little ones hoping to confide their every wish to that smiling man in the red suit.

Santa Claus came to Romulus Friday night. And he turned a chilly evening into a warm occasion as only he can.

Adding to the Christmas spirit Friday night were members of the Romulus High Chorus who sang Christmas carols and provided the joyous music for Santa's timely arrival in Romulus.

With her eyes glued on the camera man, and waiting eagerly for a signal Nakeiah Moring gets set to turn on the Christmas lights to herald in the Holiday Seasons in Romulus.

With the lights all aglow

Although a cold northerly breeze made it chilly for the scores of residents who turned out to sign Christmas carols and take part in welcoming Santa to Romulus, when seven-year-old Nakeiah Moring switched on the lights to this gigantic Christmas Tree that embraces the City Hall complex, all appeared to be well with the world again.

Hi there, Santa

One of the first to greet Santa as he stepped off the fire engine was none other than Fred Junior Block, Romulus city councilman who said he would be willing to do anything to make Santa's stay in the city as comfortable as possible.

It's really true!

She hasn't quite come down to the ground, but yes, Lynne, it is true. You are the 1982 Wayne-Westland Junior Miss. Lynn Taylor, a resident of Canton Township and a senior at John Glenn High School in Westland, is making her way through a stack of forms in preparation for the State Junior Miss Pageant next month in Marshall

Michigan. Lynne was selected to represent the two communities Nov. 25, based on her scholastic achievement, an interview with five judges, a physical fitness routine, dance routine and personal appearance and poise. (More photos on Page A-3) — ANP photo by Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

For 1982

Lynne Taylor: W-W's Junior Miss

Lynne Taylor hasn't quite got her feet back on the ground yet, but she knows one thing for sure. Come next month she'll be on her way to Marshall, Michigan, to compete in the 1982 Michigan Junior Miss Pageant.

Lynne, 17, a senior at John Glenn High School, won her spot in the state competition after being selected the 1982 Wayne-Westland Junior Miss in judging last Wednesday.

An honor student with her sights set on a dancing career, Lynne competed with 14 other high school senior girls for the coveted title. The daughter of Coleman and Loretta Taylor of Canton Township, the brown-haired, green-eyed teen plans to attend the University of Michigan for one year before moving to New York City to pursue a dancing career.

Dancing is a new interest to Lynne, who as a child favored gymnastics. However, a back injury three years ago forced her out of gymnastics competition, so she turned to dance lessons "to keep active and busy."

She enjoyed it so much, she decided to enroll in a dance school and was soon asked to compete with one of the studio's groups.

She now competes in dance at the national level with a group from the studio, and its main place of travel is New York City.

"I've found dance is the ultimate way of expressing my emotions, thoughts and dreams," she explained. "I would be lost without it."

Blending in with her dancing interest is an interest in law. In fact, her plans had included studying law and someday becoming an attorney. Law now takes a backseat to dance, however, she plans to minor in law while in college.

As part of her creative and performing arts portion of the competition, Lynne performed a dance routine that has won her acclaim at the national level.

Dance is a major part of the teen's life, but so are her grades. She maintains a 3.9 grade point average at John Glenn, and has found time to serve as a class officer for two years, be involved in the school dance company, Concert Choir, Chamber Singers and be a Varsity cheerleader.

She also has been involved in the school musicals and dance shows and lists playing the piano, dancing, teaching dance and doing gymnastics as her hobbies.

As the 1982 Wayne-Westland Junior Miss, Lynne garnered the $300 Marie Neu Scholarship and the right to represent the two communities at the state level. If successful there she would move on to the national competition, held in Mobile, Ala., later next year.

First runner-up in the competition was Barbara Brown, the youngest of three children of Harold and Leona Brown of Westland. A senior at Wayne Memorial High School, Barbara has been greatly involved in her high school. A member of the National Honor Society, active in student government, the Concert Choir, Drama Club, forensics team, yearbook staff and Varsity tennis team, she is a senior class officer.

As the first runner-up in the competition, she earned a $200 scholarship. She plans on attending Eastern Michigan University.

Second runner-up was Julie Monit, a senior at John Glenn High School and the daughter of Leo and Lorna Monit of Wayne. She also is very active in her high school and serves as a senior class officer, is captain of the Varsity cheerleading squad, recording secretary of the Co-Op Club, member of the Theatrical Guild, a thespian, president of the Concert Choir and belongs to the JGHS Dance Company.

Julie plans on attending Eastern Michigan University to pursue a career in teaching. As the second runner-up in the competition, she garnered a $100 college scholarship.

Also honored in the pageant was Peggy Furlong, the daughter of William and Mary Furlong of Westland. A senior at Franklin High School in Livonia, she was presented with the Spirit Award, given to the contestant who most exemplifies the spirit of the Junior Miss Program. The award recipient is selected by the contestants themselves.

Also honored was Deborah Adis, 17, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adis of Wayne. She was presented with the Talent Award, receiving the highest marks from the judges for her original tap dance routine to the music of the "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy of Company B."

steps necessary towards this end," the Majority Leader added.

Previous to Thursday's announcement, the DNR had been negotiating with the Hooker Chemical and Plastics Corporation plant in Montague to accept the Berlin & Farro wastes and dispose of them in an underground vault at the Montague site. Much of the waste at the Berlin & Farro site was generated by Hooker's chemical production at Montague.

Dot your 'T's carefully

Your future may depend upon 'it'

The future as well as the past is uncovered whenever you cross the "t's" and dot the "i's" as you write your name or any other words.

It's handwriting analysis and, as a studied science with exceptional insights, it can identify a broad spectrum of facts from innermost thoughts to personal abilities.

If Al Woods gets a hold of those writings and takes a close look at the slant, intensity of stroke, size and width of writing and its pressure, he's the person who opens the door to the future and also unlocks the past.

Woods, 52, a grapho-analytic counselor or a handwriting analyst, has the unique ability to look at handwriting and with amazing accuracy describe the character traits, personality, past achievements and future expectations of the writer.

His own psychic abilities coupled with the handwriting analysis is the combination that can look forward and backward in a person's life. No amateur practitioner, Woods' talents have been refined after 30 years of concentrated study in the area plus certification from the International Grapho-Analysis Society and numerous seminars in scriptology.

Woods has stunned audiences in the metropolitan Detroit area with his strikingly sharp and accurate insights and revealing commentary. The most common remark heard at any of his demonstrations is: "But, nobody knows that about me; I thought it was a well guarded secret."

Keenly sensitive to the feelings and needs of people, Woods reveals only entertaining, innocent or harmless information in public with special attention to distinctive talents or idiosyncrasies. But in private consultations, his ability to detect problems and uncover personal concerns is used to help the individual reassess his or her character values or personal traits.

The same audiences have been fascinated while entertained at his ability to see beyond or backward. He can predict changes in marriages and jobs to the point of describing the new mate, task or changed locations. Woods can tell you in precise detail about the "other secret person" in your life, the enemies and friends around you, your state of health, your travel and business fortunes and misfortunes, your private yearnings as well as what part of your car needs repair or where you will sit at the next smash hit musical in town—the show you have no plans to see at this time.

Woods explains, "Even though my abilities may be entertaining, my purpose in handwriting analysis is to help people help themselves. Many people are living in constant stress and in my work, I try to help them change their thinking and develop a greater self awareness.

"People often have faulty self images of themselves and those attitudes can be changed. I have worked with hundreds of people who have gone through a metamorphosis and emerged as different people," he adds.

A few examples of Woods' results are a 28-year-old female who left nursing to open a successful personal business; a 38-year-old male, using his creative talents, who opened a private business leaving behind a secure position with one of the auto companies, and a 50-year-old female, who revitalized her failing 30-year marriage.

A fulltime pharmacist at a suburban Detroit hospital, Woods explains, "Originally I considered pharmacy a tool to help others. Now I realize that handwriting analysis is another effective and more unique means of helping and even healing."

Woods also quips about his work as a pharmacist. "I look at those scribbled prescriptions and think, "Ooh, la, la, is that doctor enjoying life!" or "He'd better be on guard; he's going to have a bad day."

Al Woods, a person with a congenial, entertaining, even theatrical personality, speaks eloquently with a sonorous voice before both large and small audiences. Born in Lincoln Park, he is a lifelong resident of the Detroit area and is graduate of Mackenzie High School and Wayne State University. Married, he is the father of four, one whom he describes as "an intuitive child."

Audiences from Parents Without Partners to adult education courses to promotional appearances for J. L. Hudson's or Gorman's Furniture have been entertained and enlightened while shocked by the talents and psychic powers of Al Woods.

Math competitions

Local student in state finals

A Belleville High School student finished in the top 4 percent on Part I of the Twenty-Fifth Annual Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition and is among approximately 1,000 Michigan students to compete in the final examination on Wednesday, December 9.

The Belleville math student who qualified for the second test, Lorna McCollum, 12, is the daughter of William and Thelma McCollum, 44026 Harmony Lane.

This competition is sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity for mathematical training in most professions and trades, and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students in the State of Michigan.

The 100 winners of the competition will be honored at the Awards Program to be held at Central Michigan University on Saturday, February 13, 1982, with half of the winners receiving college scholarships.

These scholarships totaled $12,000 in last year's competition. The competition funds include contributions from the Burroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell, the Kuhlman Corporation, and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Mrs. Beverly Polcyn, math teacher has served as the high school supervisor for Belleville students competing in the examination.

Wayne County rejoins SEMCOG

Wayne County has re-joined the ranks of active membership in the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), it was announced today (Tuesday, December 1) by Daniel Murphy, SEMCOG Chairperson and County Executive of Oakland County.

Wayne dropped from membership earlier in the year when it was unable to pay its dues because of financial constraints.

"We are pleased that Wayne County has been able to resume its active participation in SEMCOG," Murphy said, "because Wayne has been one of our strongest members over the years. Their involvement and financial support were important factors in SEMCOG's growth and development," Murphy concluded.

Commenting on the move, Samuel Turner, Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said, "We look forward to active participation in SEMCOG, once again taking part in the very necessary regional planning work it does. We have always been supportive of that work, and now will re-join the active debate which helps shape regional planning policies for the metropolitan region."

Wayne County's actual dues are $173,630 for 1982. The dues are included in the 1982 fiscal year budget which takes effect today (December 1).

Murphy now intends to set his sights on Macomb County, which has not belonged to SEMCOG for several years. "Good, sound regional planning is important," Murphy pointed out, "and participation by Macomb County will make that planning better, and will benefit the residents of Macomb County because they will be represented in the planning decision-making process when the county rejoins."

"Right now, decisions are made without their voice, which is not healthy either for the county or for the region, in my opinion," Murphy concluded.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of counties, cities and villages, townships and schools in the seven-county Southeast Michigan region. The Council's principal function is short and long-range planning for housing, transportation, land use, public safety, recreation and open space and the environment.

Mass Michiganian exodus begins to Florida funlands

Walt Disney World's "Tencennial Celebration" heads a list of exciting Florida attractions expected to lure some 500,000 Michiganians to the Sunshine State between Christmas and Easter, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Last year Michigan ranked sixth behind Georgia, Ohio, Alabama, Louisiana and New York as a point of origin for motorists entering Florida as more than one million Michiganians sought out the sunshine and sandy beaches.

"Daily 10th birthday celebrations at Disney World in Orlando will lure a major portion of the travelers, but Florida has an array of new attractions which also will keep the tourists coming this winter," stated James Drury, Auto Club's Travel Operations manager.

In the Orlando area, Laser World presents a show with three-dimensional forms appearing to float in space. Nearby Circus World offers an Aqua Circus starring acrobatic divers.

The $300-million Orlando International Airport, billed as "the Airport of the 21st Century," opened in September.

Titusville's LaCita Golf and Country Club is working on its new Lee Trevino-designed course. Lion Country Safari near West Palm Beach has a new $2.5-million campground, and there is a new computer-programmed wave tank at Planet Ocean, an ocean science museum at the entrance to Key Biscayne.

Completion of 26 new bridges has made island hopping in the Florida Keys easier than ever. The Jacksonville Zoo has introduced a new section called the African Veldt Adventure, and Marineland has opened its nautical-theme children's recreation park called the Play Port.

Art lovers are expected to flock to the new Salvador Dali Institute in St. Petersburg when it opens in March with the A. Reynolds Morse collection of oils, watercolors, drawings and original graphics by Dali.

Motorists starting out from East Michigan will find Route A on Auto Club's map is the fastest and most direct to Florida, covering 1,401 miles of I-75—all four-lane highway with only about 50 miles of semi-mountainous driving in Kentucky and Tennessee.

For sightseeing in the Smoky Mountains, travelers can take Route A-1, which leaves I-75 at Knoxville and hooks up with I-95 for the approach to Florida.

Route B generally offers the best winter road conditions and is the most direct route for travelers from West Michigan.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR

DR. RAY ELWART

DR. MICHAEL SHAFT

Dear Dr. Elwart,
Q: What is the best way for me to sleep? What type of mattress is best for my back?
A: For the sake of your back, lie on your side with your knees and hips bent.

Or lie on your back with a pillow (or rolled blanket or other object) under your knees to bend the knees and hips.

Sleep on a firm mattress, preferably one which is neither too hard nor too soft, but just firm enough to hold your body level while at the same time soft enough so that your shoulders, buttocks and hips will depress into the mattress. However, your bed should not allow the middle of your body to sag; it should support your hips firmly, with just enough softness for comfort. If your bed is too soft, you can get relief by putting a bedboard under the mattress. For the sake of your back, get regular chiropractic check-ups. If you follow these recommendations I'm sure you'll get a better sleep at night.

Here comes Santa

Area Girl Scouts, including those of Huron, helped make Santa's arrival in Belleville and Van Buren a happy one, despite the lack of snow. In what was called one of the biggest and most successful parades of its kind, the Belleville-Van Buren annual Christmas Parade ushered in the holiday seasons on Saturday with a sparkling demonstration that was climaxed by Santa's arrival in a helicopter and a ride through the streets of Belleville in his traditional sleigh supplied by the Belleville-Van Buren Chamber of Commerce.

Residents are reminded, moreover, that Christmas collection boxes for the needy can be found at several locations throughout the city including the Belleville City Hall, Van Buren Township Hall, The Chamber of Commerce Office, Bentley Galleries, Belleville Vision Center, Bud's TV, Henry Deering Agency, National Bank of Detroit, Oakwood Hospital, Family Medical Center, Captain Nemo's, Amway-Chum Stockwell, and Wyandotte Savings.

But where's snow?

Local parks ready for winter fun

Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville has areas available for cross-country skiing and ice skating.

Three natural rink surfaces are provided at inter-connected ponds, located in a ravine where skating is permitted until 10 p.m. daily, weather permitting. Lights and wood for rinkside fires are provided and nearby there are heated restrooms.

The park entrance is on Hannan Road, just ¼ mile south of Huron River Drive via the Haggerty Road Interchange along the Edsel Ford (I-94) Freeway between Detroit Metropolitan Airport and the Belleville exit.

Park hours are daylight to 10 p.m. For ice and snow conditions phone 697-9181 (Belleville). Vehicle entry permits are required.

Willow Metropark between New Boston and Flat Rock has sledding and tobogganing on moderate slopes, groomed cross-country ski trails and ski rental service.

Sledding and tobogganing are available primarily at the Chestnut Picnic Area, which features a special trail hill for winter use. Nearby are heated restrooms.

Cross-country ski rental service is available at the Ski Touring Center located at the Bathhouse/Swimming Pool site, with complete rental equipment offered by Raupp Campfitters, Inc., in conjunction with the Huron-Clinton Metropark system.

Park hours are daylight to dusk. For snow conditions contact the park office—phone 697-9181 (c/o Lower Huron Metropark). Vehicle entry permits are required.

Oakwoods Metropark located near Flat Rock is primarily a nature oriented site, with a Nature Center, nature trails and winter bird feeding stations plus trails for cross-country skiing.

Park hours are daylight to dusk. For snow conditions contact the park office—phone 697-9181 (c/o Lower Huron Metropark).

Vehicle entry permits (Annual: regular—$7, senior citizens—$2 or daily—$2) are required.

Hazardous waste workshop scheduled

The discovery of hazardous wastes has become a nightmare to a growing number of citizens.

Dump sites of rotting barrels of industrial wastes or sludge pools have been uncovered time and again each incident bringing forth a new threat to the environment and public health safety.

Fortunately, steps are now being taken to avoid such problems in the future.

Industries are finding ways to recycle their wastes or properly treat and dispose of the wastes so that environmental degradation does not occur. Federal and state agencies have more comprehensive regulations to keep the black sheep in the industrial sector in line.

Environmental groups and local governments are discovering ways that they can protect the environment and the health of the general public in cooperation with industry and state government.

A workshop has been planned to discuss the changes in management of hazardous wastes. The DNR will present an update on the implementation of a new law to regulate hazardous waste management, and Systec Liquid Treatment Corporation will discuss how they treat hazardous wastes.

The League of Women Voters will describe the operation of a number of treatment and disposal facilities in Southeast Michigan.

The workshop is planned for Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Ypsilanti Civic Center. Citizens, elected officials, and staff of

The State Police Fire Marshal Division will describe how local communities can respond to fires and transportation spills of wastes. Finally, Alice Tomblin, the sponsor of Act 64, The Hazardous Waste Management Act, will describe how local government can assure that hazardous waste management Act, will describe how local government can assure that hazardous wastes do not cause problems in their jurisdiction.

The workshop is planned for Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Ypsilanti Civic Center. Citizens, elected officials, and staff of local governments in the Huron River Watershed are invited. Registration is desired as an information packet will be sent out to each workshop participant prior to the workshop.

The information packet will stimulate questions and permit us to present as much information at the workshop as possible.

For further information call the Council offices at 313/769-5123 or write to: Huron River Watershed Council, 415 W. Washington Street, Ann Arbor, MI 48103.

Investigation delayed

Request for a complete investigation into alleged irregularities of the County Civil Service and Department of Public Works concerning recent examination procedures was referred to the Wayne County General Government Committee Thursday.

tee Thursday.

Commissioner George F. Killeen, who asked for the investigation as the result of charges by a job applicant that examination answers had been given to another applicant in advance, said he was not satisfied with preliminary probes into the matter and wanted a more "in depth" study either within the committee structure or by a special investigation committee.

Auto tax

A resolution by County Commissioner R. William Joyner asking the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to support efforts by the Michigan Auto Dealers Association to have Michigan sales tax on new auto purchases computed only on the difference between the new car and the trade-in value of the old car was referred to the General Government Committee for further study.

SEMTA elects 3 new officers

Lorenzo D. Browning, Vincent Fordell, Dewitt J. Henry and Edward Plawecki, Jr. were elected to the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) Thursday by out-county members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

New enabling legislation now requires that the SEMTA board of directors be restructured by January 1, 1982.

The four were elected from a field of seven original nominees.

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

GOLD INLAYS

The most popular material for filling cavities is amalgam, often called a "silver" filling (actually a mixture of mercury, tin, copper, zinc and about 65-75% of silver powder). This material has proven successful for filling small and average sized cavities.

However, if the decay has ravaged a large section of the tooth, silver amalgam may not be up to the task. It does not always add strength to the tooth. In fact, it requires strong tooth structure to support it.

In the case of a large cavity, a filling of gold casting may be in order. The gold casting restoration derives its effectiveness from its great strength and resistance to breakage under chewing stress. Because of this property, gold is used mainly to support weakened tooth structure.

While waiting for the laboratory to make the gold casting from the impression taken by the dentist, the patient will have a temporary cement filling. A good gold inlay usually lasts for many years and is considered stronger than a good amalgam filling.

20 pass 'President's test'

When it comes to physical fitness, Renton Junior High School students display class.

More than a handful of the students competed in the President's Council Youth Fitness testing program and came away with high grades.

Cvetezar, Debbie Michael and Marc Myrick.

Seventh graders who proved they have athletic and physical acuity are: Mitch Dwyer, Kim Greer, Larry Herr, Daniel Kirksey and Larry Lee.

Other seventh graders who earned recognition are: Doug Marmion, Chris McAtee, Sherry Prater, Mike Smith, Curtis Stackable, Tammy Trombley, John Umin, David Watson and Phil Young.

All seventh and eighth graders were given performance tests in the 50-yard dash, the 600-yard run, the standing long jump, the 40-yard shuttle run, sit-ups, pull-ups, and arms hang.

Raw scores for the battery of tests were compared with national standards established by the Council, and percentile ranks for each test item were determined.

The Council has determined that those students with percentile ranks of 85% or above on each of the test items are worthy of the President's Council on Youth Fitness Award.

New Boston student knows his beef

A New Boston Huron resident figured in Michigan State University's excellent showing at the American Royal meat judging contest.

Mike Sheats, a senior from New Boston, helped the Spartans finish with the highest team points among 21 competing universities.

Although edged by Purdue in total points during the American Royal meat judging contest, Michigan State University had the high individual team among competing universities.

MSU was four points behind Purdue which collected 3,552 as the high overall team. But MSU's team in beef grading, lamb, pork and beef judging ranked first — collecting 1,717 out of a possible 1,800 points.

'Hanenburgh was the second highest person in individual competition (reasoning) Taylor was first in overall individual performance. Blight was sixth. The contest featured 84 contestants.

The MSU coach was Jan Busboon, Department of Animal Science, and the team consists of students who are planning to enter agricultural careers. The Royal was held at Iowa Beef Processors in Emporia, Kan.

Which legislative district will be axed?

Apportionment talks are set

A public hearing to help determine legislative reapportionment will be held on Friday, December 18, in Detroit, the Legislative Apportionment Commission announced today.

According to Commission Co-Chairmen A. Robert Kleiner of Grand Rapids and Richard Sanderson of Birmingham, the purpose of the hearing is to present reapportionment plans developed by the Commission for public advice and reaction.

In addition, the Commission will consider any plans presented at the hearing by the public.

The hearing will be held in the auditorium of the City County Building in Downtown Detroit. To accommodate the public, hours of the hearing will be between 10 a.m. and Noon and between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Under Michigan's constitution, both the House of Representatives and State Senate must be reapportioned every 10 years following the federal census. To accomplish this, a bi-partisan eight-member legislative apportionment commission is appointed by both political parties with staff assistance from the Michigan Secretary of State.

The Commission is responsible for adjusting boundaries of legislative districts to maintain equal representation in the Michigan Legislature.

Members of the Commission are: Rosie Board of Detroit, Francis Brouillette of Iron Mountain, Clare Daniels of Muskegon, A. Robert Kleiner of Grand Rapids, Erma Lurvey of West Branch, John Payant of Kingsford, Richard Sanderson of Birmingham and Lou Ann Taylor of Traverse City.

Van Buren hosts Open House

Van Buren Township, in cooperation with the GFWC-Belleville Junior Study Club will host an open house and tea celebration on Tues., Dec. 15, at the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road, Belleville, from 9 a.m. till noon.

The purpose of the open house will be to honor and thank those community businesses who participated in the "Van Buren Township Opportunity" project.

"Van Buren Township Opportunity" is a game, similar in appearance to Monopoly, but made up of local businesses. Some 51 local merchants participated by allowing their businesses to be used in the game to replace the traditional Boardwalk and Park Place.

Although invitations have been mailed to those businesses that will be honored, the public is welcome to attend. Coffee, tea, and cookies will be served. Each business that is to be honored will receive a FREE game set from the Township and Study Club as a memento of their cooperation.

Additional copies of the game will be available for community members who wish to purchase games for Christmas.

Proceeds from the sale of the game will be used to fund three Michigan Historical Site markers to be erected in Van Buren Township.

Local libraries like 'The WOLF'

Library cooperation pays off in dollars as well as in improved services for local libraries, according to figures released today by the Wayne Oakland Library Federation (WOLF), which serves 65 public libraries in Wayne and Oakland counties.

Area WOLF member libraries are in Belleville, Canton, Inkster, Romulus, Wayne-Westland.

WOLF and 16 other regional library cooperatives in the state were established under state aid legislation sponsored in 1977 by Senator William Faust of Westland to encourage public libraries to coordinate services by eliminating duplication and sharing strengths. Today, 98 percent of the State's public libraries are members of library cooperatives. WOLF is the largest, serving nearly 2 million people.

In fiscal 1981, WOLF member libraries paid an average of $1,800 each from local funds to support cooperative services, compared to an average of $9,000 in 1977, the last year under the old statewide library organization.

The Wayne County Library and its local participating community libraries are major beneficiaries of the Faust bill, having paid from local funds $250,582 for services in 1977 and nothing at all in 1981, because the special state aid for cooperative services met the entire cost.

One of the major advantages of WOLF membership is the discount rate member libraries receive when purchasing books, ranging from net to 43 percent. Book selection lists, purchasing and billing procedures are processed by computer, saving member communities hundreds of hours of paperwork and record keeping.

Other WOLF services to member libraries include cataloging of books, access through interlibrary loan to a combined collection of three million books; electronic connection to nationwide computerized circulation system.

Local libraries operating alone would find such services to be prohibitively expensive or impossible. Operating in a cooperative, these and other enriching services become possible and economical.

State gas tax pours into Romulus

Despite a steady decline in state gas and weight tax revenues, the cities of Romulus and Wayne both received more in state revenue shared funds in the 1980-81 fiscal year than they did in the previous fiscal year, according to State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak (D) of Romulus.

The gasoline and weight (vehicle registration) funds collected by the state are shared with local units of government on a per capita basis.

"However, Mahalak said, "despite the decline in tax revenues, there were some municipalities, such as Romulus and Wayne, that received more income in the fiscal year ending last September 30. This reflects 1980 federal census results and the proportionate share of each agency's street system to the total street system statewide."

Romulus state-shared gas and weight tax revenues totaled $554,299 in fiscal 1980-81. This is above the $506,373 received in the previous fiscal year.

The City of Wayne received $391,254 in the fiscal year ending September 30. This is an increase from the $383,048 of fiscal 1979-80.

Mahalak reported that state revenues for work on Michigan's highways, roads and streets and other transportation decreased $55.6 million from fiscal 1980 and $77.9 million from fiscal 1979. Mahalak explained

5-year-old Shannon Mason of Wayne stands by. Children are reminded that Santa will be at Andrew's Pharmacy, 444 Main Street, from noon to 3 p.m. every Saturday and Sunday, until Christmas.

Candlelight tour set for historic site

A Candlelight Historic Tour will be held in Tecumseh on Sunday, Dec. 13, giving the public its first opportunity to visit the Anderson-Beardsley House. This architecturally acclaimed Greek Revival home is located at 401 West Chicago Boulevard, in the Tecumseh historical circuit.

Nominated architecturally for the American Building Survey in 1937, its plans were drawn and are at the Library of Congress. Copies will be on display in the law office in the home during the tour.

Built in 1832, the house served as an early tavern. Oral history states its use as a station for the underground railway during the Civil War. A basement step which can be lifted to reveal a hidden room is in the Anderson-Beardsley House.

One-time home of Tecumseh Herald Editor Benjamin Baster, it was there he wrote many of his fiery editorials on the Dred Scott Decision and anti-slavery.

The Tecumseh Area Historical Society, sponsor of the 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. event, is asking a $2 donation from adults and $1 from students with proceeds going to the Museum Fund.

The tour will include hot cider and cookies, classical guitar music by Steve Osborn of Ann Arbor, holiday decorations courtesy Adrian Floral, Primrose Lane Shops and Emery's Flowers, all of Adrian, and Grey Fox Floral and the August Company of Tecumseh.

Old photographs of Tecumseh, farms in the city, etc. will be on display and an oral history will be given by host Jim Beardsley, son of former city attorney James Beardsley and his wife, Marjorie, who also lived in the house. The Beardsley family had owned the house for nearly 150 years.

Host chairpersons are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dickinson and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Puffer.

Help for persons whose blood won't clot and their families is available from the Hemophilia Foundation of Michigan.

Funds for handicapped education distributed

Van Buren, Huron and the Romulus school districts were among some 36 local and area school districts in Wayne County that will share nearly $8 million in federal funds for the education of the handicapped. The funds are being distributed by the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Van Buren will receive $132,215, while Romulus is slated to get $141,226 and Huron's portion is $49,616. These fiscal year 1981 funds are allocated under the Education of the Handicapped Act, more commonly known as Public Law 94-142.

Juan Carlos needs a home

The Romulus Rotary Club is looking for host families for Juan Carlos Roa Diaz.

Juan Carlos is a foreign exchange student from Bogota, Columbia. He is 5'8" tall and weighs in at 120 pounds. He will be arriving in the city of Romulus in mid-January, and will attend Romulus Senior High School during his stay and leave the United States next December, 1982.

Rotarian John Domas, Youth Exchange Program Chairman, says that students involved in the Exchange Program undergo a very thorough screening by several Rotary committees before they are allowed to participate in the program.

Rotary organizations in all countries want exchange students to proudly represent the best of their countries youth. These students are in effect representing their nation as junior ambassadors to other countries.

Juan Carlos has been described by his school principal as, "an outstanding student because of his vigorous involvement in school activities and his fellowship with his classmates. He will be an excellent representative of our country."

Juan has studied English for the last six years and hopes to learn to speak it fluently by the time he leaves Michigan. His ambition when he returns to his country is to go the University to study either Law or Economics.

A host family will learn much about life in South America from Juan Carlos. They will come to know his family, how they live, their customs, government, educational system, problems, sports and recreation, etc.

These families realize that they and their children could gain considerably from the experience of having a foreign student of their child's age living in their home.

Because Juan Carlos will be living in Romulus for almost a full year several host families are needed.

If your family would like a worthwhile experience in an international adventure you may contact Rotarian John Domas by calling the Counselors' Office at Romulus Senior High School, 941-2170 or his home, 941-5965.

Honor Roll

20 earn 'All A's

You can almost count on two hands the number of students who earned straight "A" grades at the end of the first card marking at Romulus Senior High School.

There were 18 "all A" students, including five in the 9th grade. Students who posted perfect grades are Kimberly Boler, Shawn Burke, Douglas Domas, David Spierling and Gordon Stepchuk; 10th graders who have all A's are Eric Morris, Chris Pennington, Kathy Scafe and Myra Zamora.

Only two — Diane Godwin and Kimberly Vavro — brought home perfect grades from the 11th grade, while 12th graders who boasted straight A's are: Dwayne Cobb, Ann David, Robin Hoag, Roger Lipkowski, Angela Martin, Tom Scamp, and Robert Springer. Here is the remainder of the senior high school honor roll:

'News blackout'

Sheriff patrol services at stake

A virtual news blackout has settled over contract negotiations that could lead to the partial restoration of Wayne County Sheriff patrol services at Metro Airport in Romulus and along county secondary roads and parks, Clemens E. Bykowski, Vice-Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said today.

Negotiators for the County Board of Commissioners have a scheduled meeting Monday with State officials to determine the amount of funds still available for secondary road patrols. "At the same time," Bykowski said, "commissioners will go over proposed contracts with the State that could put 14 patrol cars back on the road by Christmas." According to Alfred Montgomery, Director of the County's Criminal Justice Division, an estimated $1 million still remains in the State secondary roads account.

In the meantime, negotiators for the Wayne County Road Commission have been ordered to come up with an acceptable contract that can be presented to the deputies' union Local 502 by Thursday, a spokesman for the commission revealed today. Michael Berry, Chairman of the commission — during a controversial meeting Thursday — argued that it would be cheaper to hire 10 to 20 deputies than to expand their own security force. Road Commission members voted 2-1 to contract with the deputies. Before Wayne County Commissioners slashed the Sheriff's road patrol to save some $5 million in the 1980-81 budget, the Sheriff provided a 43-man staff at Metro Airport to monitor traffic and police parking lots. The Commissioners' action resulted in a nearly year-long court battle with Local 502 that is still before the Appeals Court.

Union rank and file, however, have agreed to withdraw their appeal when and if the two contracts — Metro Airport and Secondary Roads — are completed satisfactorily.

China is talk topic

Rep. Tom Anderson (D-Southgate) will be discussing his recent trip to China when he pays Wayne County Community College Western Instruction Center a visit at 9 a.m., Mon. Dec. 14.

Anderson's talk, which will also include slide presentations, is open to students and the public.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Lynn Patchin at 699-0200.

Our Opinions

Toxic wastes - why Van Buren Township?

Van Buren Township residents and elected officials are understandably upset over the prospects of toxic materials being buried in a local landfill.

If an administrative order from the chief of the Michigan Toxic Substance Control Commission is upheld, the Wayne Disposal landfill located off I-94 could accept toxic sludge and soil from the Berlin & Farro Liquid Incineration Co. chemical waste site near Swartz Creek.

Why, you may ask, is Van Buren Township considered a dumping ground for waste generated in the Flint area? Good question.

According to the Commission, Wayne Disposal is a site that has previously disposed of similar kinds of waste and could save the state money compared to disposal at alternative sites. Poor answer, especially to township residents.

The thought of having some 39,000 cubic feet of contaminated sludge transported from an outstate location to Wayne Disposal strikes us as administrative rigamarole. Rigamarole that could pose dangerous consequences for Van Buren and surrounding communities.

High concentrations of PCBs, heavy metals and a compound used to manufacture environmentally dangerous and controversial pesticides are included in the contaminated soil. The substances are proven or suspected cancer agents.

In light of such potentially dangerous materials, talk of financial savings seems inconsiderate to the feelings of local populations.

Township officials must take whatever legal steps necessary to block any such toxic burial. If this sludge from a site near Flint is accepted, where will the next shipment come from? And what will it contain?

State administrators and state elected officials must be sent a clear yet forceful message — keep outstate toxic waste outstate.

Taxes, taxes and more taxes

Canton's Finance Director Mike Gorman stated in the September 28 issue of another newspaper that "Inflation and changes in the state tax are boosting taxes for Canton residents an average of 16.6 percent."

The homeowners pay 78 percent of Canton's taxes whereas commercial pays only 15 percent.

Our current sign ordinance, I feel, has contributed greatly to the lack of business in our township because it is so restrictive. This sign ordinance is one important reason why we, the homeowners, bear 78 percent of the tax burden.

On December 14th at 7:30 there will be an open hearing at Township Hall on Canton Center Road to discuss a new sign ordinance. This new proposal has many restrictions built in.

In fact, all signs will be restricted to a size less than half of those found in downtown Plymouth with the exception of signs related to the interstate.

This new ordinance will create a more attractive business climate will draw the business and industry we need to spread the tax burden more equally.

In these hard economic times we must be able to compete with surrounding communities for new business.

As a home owner, I urge all concerned taxpayers to attend next Monday's meeting to support the new proposal.

The 'gift of giving'

"The 'gift of giving' is certainly evident in the Township of Van Buren and the City of Belleville.

The holiday season kicked off last Saturday with the finest Christmas Parade to march down Main Street.

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank our parade coordinator, Valerie Higgins, for the many hours she dedicated to organizing this event.

For those people who are unfamiliar with all that goes into that one parade, I'd like to explain that it takes weeks of dedication. Valerie, your labor of love touched the hearts of all the children as they watched their favorite characters walk by. (the hearts of adults too!)

I'd also like to thank Valerie's family for their patience in dealing with all the time she took away from them. Thanks again, Valerie!

On behalf of the Van Buren-Belleville Chamber of Commerce, I would like to thank all the dignitaries who graced us with their presence as well as the many other parade participants. I'd like to thank our Executive Secretary, Leona Van Buhler, for her constant help throughout the year and I would like to thank those Chamber Members who lined up the participants and sent them on their way downtown.

In closing, the Chamber of Commerce wishes everyone a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

On death of a friend

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

I like to picture death as a new dawn — it's the beginning that never ends.

Since the dawn of civilization, death has intrigued mankind. The Chinese, I am told, rejoice over the endless sleep because it releases the pain — and oh, how much pain this human body sees in one lifetime, and changes one form of energy to another.

And lifetimes — for some just a fraction of a second, for others years and years and years.

But, today, I want to pause on one death — that of John S. Vincent who was born 99 years ago on July 7, 1892. John died last month on November 12.

His parents wanted him to become a doctor but John wanted to travel and learn languages and see far-away places. His native Czechoslovakia was the doorway to many countries.

And the world awaited him. To be a doctor — a noble profession — meant to give up the adventure of the world — and so, with tears in his mother's eyes, John headed west through Germany, France, into England — finally reached Africa on the notable Sir Thomas Lipton's Yacht.

On the way he learned to cook and decided to become a chef by trade.

Africa was intriguing for Vincent, but it wasn't long before he set his sights on America and decided to come here. As a chef he was in demand — he worked at his profession and was employed by many of the larger, well-known hotels until finally reaching the States and eventually settling in what was then Nankin Township.

John purchased a 40 acre farm and married and from the marriage 10 children were born — seven boys and three girls. To support the children, Vincent continued to work as a chef in the major hotels in Detroit and still found time to run a bakery.

Vincent became the head chef at Wayne County General Hospital and later, when the wars erupted in Europe and his native Czechoslovakia was over-run by the Nazis, John moved over to the newly-built Willow Run Bomber Plant as head chef.

And as time caught up to him and an era changed, Vincent became postmaster at Eloise where a new profession brought new friends.

He may not have accomplished in life what some men and women have, but John Vincent left behind him many friends and loved ones when he passed away on November 12, 1981 — only a few months shy of becoming a centenarian.

Why do we write about one life?

Because each and every one of us has something to say. Has his or her own story.

How I hate it when I look at an obituary and see "one liners" and a paragraph or two about the deceased.

War to keep hospital costs down can be won

by BARNARD F. HILLENBRAND

So it's a buyer's market in the hospital business these days. As James Buncher, president of Hospital Affiliates International (HAI), has said, "Quite a number of non-profit hospitals are for sale, particularly those that need capital."

Corporations are wooing bureaucrats by the hundreds. The feds are getting rid of 12 facilities. Alabama's Department of Corrections recently signed a $13.8 million contract for care of prisoners. Louisiana, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania are rumored to be interested in selling hospitals. And when asked about hospital sales in Kentucky, Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. was quoted as saying, "Of course I want to help poor people, but we can't be sugar daddy for everyone on Medicaid."

The financial situation of Escambia County (Pensacola), Florida's hospital is typical of those up for grabs. This year the county will accrue $2.4 million bad debts from serving 40 percent of its patients who can't pay for their bills, but have too many assets for Medicaid. The county is also liable for $1.3 million in health care for the "truly needy."

In Pensacola — and every community where private management is considered — the issue raises bitter debate. On one side are politicians who often charge hospital administrators with mismanagement. On the other are advocates who fear the poor will lose access to health care.

One group leading this fight is the Washington-based "Consumer Coalition for Health (CCH)", subsidized by labor, philanthropies and women's service organizations. Ironically, CCH was also recipient of a federal grant that yielded a 12-chapter book, "How to Save Your Hospital." The work is intended to inspire citizens' groups who are often pitted against their elected county commissioners.

In Prince George's County, Md., for example, a two-year effort by Executive Larry Hogan to lease the public hospital system to HCA was defeated by the county board in October. The board was swayed by a massive, last minute telephone campaign lead by a senior citizens' group.

Such rampant emotionalism hides the real issue: Who will pay?

No politician wants to be uncharitable. But if hospitals are going to be run as businesses someone must pay cost plus profit. In case after case, one message private management companies make very clear is that they are not going to be charged with more than their "fair share" of bad debt.

While federal "Hill Burton" laws require hospitals that receive federal construction funds to serve indigents, the law is not enforced. Many hospitals partially subsidize charity cases from what they make on profitable patients. The insurance companies help them out, but Medicaid will not pay any subsidies. Anyway, as a Fortune magazine writer points out, "It is hard to argue that supporting charity cases from profitable patients is morally superior to supporting them with tax dollars." And Neil Hollander of Blue Cross Blue Shield

Association adds, "Subsidies disguise the real problem, they fool taxpayers."

An administrator with American Medical International (AMI) recently told me his company expected a bad debt of no more than 3 to 5 percent of revenue. Why, most public hospitals operate with no less than 20 percent bad debt, i.e., free care, i.e. charity. Some public hospitals report losses from 45 to 60 percent. If the public hospital's mission is to serve the poor — someone must pay. If not private or voluntary hospitals, if not the insurance companies, if not federal or state governments, the burden will continue to fall on local government. Counties will pay and pay, whether they own institutions or not.

Of course the high cost of indigent care isn't the only factor counties consider in weighing management contracts. Geraldine Dallek of the National Health Law Program, Los Angeles, says local officials contract to reduce costs, to fill a lack of personnel, and because contracting is "less bothersome" than local control. When preparing for a comprehensive study of seven county hospital contract arrangements, William Shonick and Ruth Roemer of the University of California isolated key issues including cost containment, access, quality of services and accountability. And then the industry says it brings to public hospitals good management, bulk purchasing, and capital to buy new equipment that brings in better staff.

Charles Russell, an AMI executive, is fond of telling county folk about the 213-bed York County (Rock Hill), S.C. hospital recently acquired, one they will replace "at no cost to the citizens of York County." The 40-year-old suburban facility needed major overhaul. When voters rejected a bond issue in 1978, the county council and hospital board sought to sell, a condition being new construction and future use of the old facility for county offices. Gene Klugh, county manager, is pleased with the deal. "Apparently the hospital business is very profitable," he says. "I had the feeling during negotiations that they were willing to put out almost anything.

We were sitting down with people willing to assume $1 million obligation with the federal government at the blink of an eye."

Sale price was $9 million. The county created a trust fund, the interest to pay for indigent care. Subsequently, they were able to eliminate a proportion of local tax that went to the hospital. Contract terms specified the county would be obligated for indigent care to $750,000 during the first year, the amount to fluctuate in future years according to need. Since May, the company has operated the hospital while the new one is under construction. By August, 81 people had applied for indigent status but only 13 qualified. Bills for the remaining patients will become part of the hospital's bad debt, which may soar to 8 percent this year, obviously unacceptable to AMI. According to Morris Maple, AMI's local administrator, "We are in the process of going back and renegotiating this point with the county because the system isn't working."

On the loss of loved ones

EDITOR—Often a community is only made aware of the "News-makers;" those in high visibility jobs or those constantly in trouble. As you're well aware, there's a much greater number out here who are seldom heard from or about. These are the "regular guys," the everyday men and women who quietly go about their jobs, their family raising, their worship, their recreation, their "thing" without too much fuss or bother.

In the last two weeks, Wayne has lost two of this group. Two fine men who have had quite an impact on myself as well as a lot of you. One was my Little League coach, the other my father, both of Forest Park (six doors apart). The silent majority that make up the fibre of a community; neighbors and friends just like you.

My coach, Edward Miller, lived in Wayne for 48 years and was also loved and respected by everyone he knew. Neither my dad nor Mr. Miller had an enemy and both had a great sense of humor.

Both these men meant so much to all who knew them, I just had to tell you about them. They weren't always in the news; very seldom, if at all. But it's people like Floyd Workman and Edward Miller that make Wayne what it is... a fine community for nice people. People like you and me.

We'll miss them both very much.

Legion deserves better coverage

EDITOR—I have been a longtime subscriber to your newspaper and I am appalled at the lack of news coverage of the American Legion Post 111, which is located on Wayne Rd. in Wayne and which has contributed greatly to this as well as surrounding communities.

I have yet to see anything that amounts to anything about them in your paper.

• Our commander was on TV, pre-sending money for one of the drives.

• We do marathon bingos for good causes.

• We make sure one whole wing 112 at the Veterans Hospital, is taken care of, for things to make them comfortable, and fun things. These are Vietnam mental patients, that hardly anyone else bothers with.

• We sell poppies, give Christmas baskets, care for anyone needy.

I could write a lot more, but these are but a few things they do.

So what is your bag?

Are they aliens, because of one bad members mouth?

All I read is the Jaycees. I'm fed up with it. We have a lot of members in Wayne and other cities. If you cannot take notice, I'm afraid you may lose quite a few subscribers, me for one.

Mail delivery is expensive

EDITOR—Now that postal rates have risen again, whatever happened to the fine idea of letting corporations advertise themselves on stamps and sharing in the costs of mail delivery?

It is a logical and rational way to keep mail delivery costs down, and I sincerely feel it's time has come.

Is there hope for Yankee Auto?

EDITOR—I guess if someone should ask the question: is there hope for the Yankee Automobile, one would expect the questioner to be some Jap or someone who is sympathetic to the Japanese Auto Makers.

I am not a Jap, neither am I a sympathizer of the Japanese automaker. I happen to be an employee, or may I say, a laid off employee of a Yankee Auto Maker.

I never thought I would live to see the time come when any American would even start to compare a Japanese made product with an American made product for quality.

I think the problems we face for the Yankee Automobile lies within our own ranks. I believe our foremost problem is with our government not being able to say no to the automobile killer, or killers such as Ralph Nader.

It seems to me that Congressmen and Senators spend more time listening to and following advice of the likes of Mr. Nader than they do on issues to solve the crises of our people.

There are several restrictions on our Yankee Automobile now, and may I add the American Consumer pays for all of them and we do not want them or neither do we need them.

As an example, Mr. Nader cannot seem to see any dangers with an air bag that would completely take an automobile out of the hands of the operator and turn it loose to control itself in case of an accident. He approves of something that would force the consumer to have an Air Bag installed in any new car purchase or pay a large tax fine for not doing so.

So our number one problem is getting our elected officials to plainly tell him to "Cool it Man".

The second most prominent problem we have is getting the Yankee Automobile Designer and Engineer to realize his own potential. The American Designers and Engineers are the smartest in the world. If they would only settle the situation in their minds and go to work we may see a 90 percent decline in the Japanese made auto on the American market.

The auto worker in America has seemingly lost confidence in his fellow worker. Somehow he doesn't think the other man is capable of building a good automobile. While on the other hand he doesn't know his counterpart across the waters in Japan so, he puts his confidence in him. We need to learn to trust our fellow worker in building a product to our satisfaction.

We are still trying to build cars to seat five or six people comfortably and expect something that weighs over or about three thousand pounds to give us forty m.p.g., while pulling a big load. It just don't work. I have never been seated in a small Japanese made automobile with four or five people and been comfortable.

What ever happened to the little one seater coupe. It had an engine up front with one seat for two or three people very comfortable and carried a trunk for luggage. A car like that today would be very popular on the market.

I remember a certain custom six cylinder nineteen fifty four Ford that I drove round trip to Indiana and back home that gave me twenty six m.p.g. and seated six people more comfortably than today's automobiles that are designed for that very purpose.

May I ask Yankee Automakers: Why not a small coupe with a filtered exhaust system instead of all the emission control systems that we have to fight with. With a filter type exhaust system maybe the consumer could service it himself. Today's autos, both foreign and domestic are so complicated to service or make repairs that a person almost has to be educated equally with a college professor in order to make repairs. Can we not turn the trend around?

I am very confident that the Yankee Automobile has a great future. There are things that our Designers and Engineers need to work on, and I am very confident if they will put their expertise and will power to work we can very soon see a very large decline in the Foreign Made Auto Sales in America. In fact I am so confident in the American Auto Makers that I own two American made autos.

We, all Americans, have dragged our feet and let propaganda defeat our purpose in Auto Making. That is the only thing we are guilty of. We have let manufacturers such as the Japanese, brain wash all of us into thinking they have a better product.

There is no country in the world that can match America in quality products. We, the workers and manufacturers need not give in to such a farce. We need to put prestige back into automaking. The manufacturer and its component enterprises need to take great pride in seeing that the very best is on the market with the very lowest prices available.

I know the American worker must draw a line on hourly wages. Just where, I do not know. However, I am persuaded the manufacturer and the worker can set down and work out a scale for wages and prices as well. In such cases do not expect the workers at any level to take wage cuts without cutting the cost of food, raiment, and shelter and also transportation.

I think what I have been saying is: if the manufacturer and its workers will become a team with one fact in mind, that is to defeat the Japs in Auto Making, and other items as well, then we as a team can do whatever our goals call for.

An appeal to the young

EDITOR—Just recently a person bordering upon becoming a senior citizen was hit on the arm with an apple. The irresponsible youngsters were chased for about a block and were asked to leave Belleville permanently.

You young people, you know who you are. If you were right in what you did then why did you not face that person you hit and tell face to face that you were right and why?

Instead of running like cowards as you obviously are? Or if you are wrong in what you did then why do it in the first place? Why don't you foresee the consequences of your actions?

Do you know that you could hit a person the wrong way and be sued? It could be money you desperately wanted to use for something else or needed.

And it could cost you time which could better be used for decent jobs, marriage, and the wonderful challenge of rearing a family...also many other things.

All right, maybe some of us do not live up to your expectations. Can you please forgive us instead of taking your resentments, hidden or open, out on us, then running like cowards?

There is a Scripture which says that if you do not forgive men their trespasses neither will your heavenly Father forgive you. So please think twice about your resentments and your unforgiving spirits before acting violently. When the shoes are put on the other feet then you will know that you know.

Want to quit being called cowards or even worse names? Then come to the person or persons you wronged and apologize with a broken heart.

Do not run. You cannot run from God. Be sure your sin will find you out. You will answer to God for every thought, word, or deed or intentional evil, unless you come to the Lord Jesus in full repentance, and as a child, and let him change you and turn you completely around.

If after considering all of this and you still intend to continue in all your wild ways, then please pack your bags and leave Belleville permanently, and don't ever come back! We can no longer tolerate your wickedness!

What price education

EDITOR—In the bustle of the holiday season it is easy to forget the nagging worries that are at the back of our minds. A sense of unease about education's future is not an immediate concern at the moment, unless you live in Taylor.

What value do you place on education?

You must agree that quality education is essential to achieve goals for a career. A high school diploma is now a minimum requirement for most jobs.

As important as schooling is, this decade begins with setback-after-setback in allowing children to be educated. The Federal Budget has cut back severely in its appropriations for education.

The State in turn, reduced its allotment.

Inflation, declining school enrollment (which cannot be adjusted for quickly enough), rising costs, and high interest rates are taking their toll on school district's budgets.

School officials are making hard decisions about building closings, teacher lay-offs, supply cutbacks, program eliminations, and when everything fails—school closings.

There is a need to examine the State's role in school financing. Though Michigan is hurt more by the recession than any other State, it must not be permitted to place a low priority on education of its children.

These children cannot wait for better times; they must receive the best possible education now. Michigan has districts which are feeling no pain from school cutbacks and others which are fighting for survival. This disparity prevents the opportunity for equal education among "rich" districts and middle-and low-income ones.

Answers will not come easy in solving this dilemma. It will take a great deal of effort to find an equitable solution. Most importantly, it will require the concern and involvement of people who care about the quality of education to bring the quality up to your standards.

Low gas price was deceiving

EDITOR—To the owner of a gas station at I-94 in Van Buren, congratulations on having the lowest price for regular gas around town at 32.5 per liter or 1.22.9 per gallon.

AH—But you don't advertise your other prices and I can see why—you sell by the liter and enjoy the profits you're making by selling unleaded for 39.5 per liter or 149.9 per gallon and super unleaded for 42.2 per liter, or 159.7 per gallon—and self service to boot. But then who takes the time to figure liters to gallons.

I hope you use what you made from me wisely, because I am one member of the Belleville area who will no longer be gouged at your station. Never again.

Pizza Hut ad appalling

EDITOR—I was recently appalled when I realized the means through which Pizza Hut is trying to sell its product.

The commercial with the beautiful, cherubic little girl getting dumped off a large tricycle on to hard cement on her bare arms and shoulders is sickening and repulsive.

Is this some perverted advertiser's idea of cute or funny?

Then, to even worsen this sad story the little girl is given a piece of pizza that is so hot she needs asbestos gloves to handle it and we all watch her badly burn her fingers. I can't believe any socially responsible company would market their product by inflicting pain on a child and expect the American public to chuckle. That is sick!

Memories of Christmas

The Salvation Army lasses are standing huddled in their great coats, the wind whipping about them, their chins tucked in their collars, ringing their tiny bells for humanity.

And I know that the Christmas season is upon us.

It is time for someone to climb up into the attic and bring down the huge box filled with memories of Christmas's past. The music box on top of which stands the holy family, Joseph, Mary and the baby Jesus goes on display while tiny children stand before the revolving family, and "Silent Night, Holy Night," tinkles out into the room.

Great eyes stare, and little blond heads lean closer, the better to watch and the better to hear.

I love the Christmas season.

I love the hustle and the bustle, the smells of baking, and even the canned Christmas music pouring from the stores as I rush to do my Christmas shopping.

And somewhere in all that running and decorating, and shopping and reaching towards the happiness of Christmas, my heart has a spot where heaviness lies, for I know that there are so many out there who are sad, who are lonely, who will have no Christmas, who will not be a part of glad laughter, and the joy of being together.

Who will not feel the arms of their loved ones about them; and worst of all will be little children whom Santa Claus will forget.

I pass the Salvation Army lass, and I drop a dollar in the slot. One small dollar, and then I turn into the store and spend ten to make a granchild's heart happy.

I pile a few cans of food into a container in one of the restaurants, and go out and buy a large ham with which to feed my family. Such a small contribution. A sense of futility grabs me and swipes at the happiness bubbling somewhere within me.

I search out other ways to reach out, always knowing, always aware, that whatever I do, as an individual, is but a drop in the great ocean of need.

"Oh, little town of Bethlehem"...the words ring out and I rush into my bedroom, for somewhere within me I know that there is only one solution.

That the prayer I send up and out may add to other prayers reaching upward and out, and somehow, somewhere, sometime, the answer to those prayers will come, and there will be no more unhappiness, no more loneliness, no child without a magic Santa Claus.

MONA GRIGG

ing sons, playing on the upstairs window where she had last seen her sons alive, playing on the fireplace, unscreened and the cause of the fire...she endured the newspaper reporters' questioning, questioning... Why had she gone to bed before dousing the fire in the fireplace?

Did she try to save her sons? Had she ever instructed them in what to do in case of fire? She endured it as for long as she could and finally, when she could endure it no longer, she went quietly crazy.

I hope she is well now and life is good to her again. I hope she never has to be reminded unnecessarily of the tragedy she herself will never forget.

I wish the same thing for the families of Natalie Wood and William Holden...and for the surviving families of everyone whose lives we've shared—either out of love or out of respect—or even out of curiosity. Their deaths, after all, are merely the end. Their lives were everything.

Mona Grigg

Not the death, but the life

Natalie Wood and I were born within months of one another. We wore pigtailed together. We went through the trauma of our teen years together. We grew up together. If I had taken the time to think about it at all, it would never have occurred to me that we might not grow old together, too.

Because the times of our lives paralleled so closely, and because it was so easy—what with gossip columnists and movie magazines—I followed her life and her career.

I was embarrassed for her when she was lousy—as she was as "Maria" in "West Side Story"—and I cheered her on when she was good—as she was as the crazy/sane lady in "Cracker Factory".

She was, it turned out—after all that experimenting—a fine comedienne. A natural in a phony world. A good mother, a loving wife.

But all those things, last week, were secondary. Those things don't make good copy. What makes good copy are the circumstances of her death. She left the yacht after an argument under cover of darkness with the alcoholic equivalent of eight or nine glasses of wine in her and got into—or tried to get into—a little dinghy to go Lord knows where to get away from Lord knows what, even though she had a real fear of the water.

The coroner says she probably didn't cry out. A witness says there were screams. Someone supposedly said, "We're coming to get you." Her husband, Robert Wagner, and her co-star, Christopher Walken say they heard nothing.

The mysterious death of Natalie Wood. It should fill pages for years. Every time someone dies under strange circumstances in Hollywood, Natalie Wood's death will be dredged up as a grisly parallel.

I wonder, do we ever think of the survivors in our hunger for every last bit of offensive minutiae?

Was it necessary, for instance, for the world to know that Elvis Presley's last moments were spent in presumable agony sitting on a toilet seat?

Did we have to know that Marilyn Monroe, for all her seeming glamour, died alone in a near-empty room on a bed that was not a bed, but only a box spring and mattress resting on the floor?

Did the fact that William Holden was drunk again when he slipped and hit his head and bled to death have to overshadow the fact that he spent the last years of his life working to preserve the ecological balance of the African veldt?

Shouldn't an acknowledgement of death be, in fact, a celebration of life? Shouldn't the person who lived that life be entitled to at least that? Shouldn't their families, in their grief, be entitled to even more? Their privacy, their dignity, their glorious remembrances?

The most repulsive creature on the television screen, to my mind, is the relentless reporter who makes it his duty to interview the survivors in a tragedy. He has learned too well the "Barbara Walters" method of interviewing: Namely, ask an assinine question ("How did you feel?") "What are your thoughts?") wait for an answer, then wait again in silence while the "victim" squirms.

Usually the "victim", unnerved by the silence, will say anything just to be saying something. More often, he or she will break into tears. In any case, they are either too polite or too much in shock to tell the interviewer to get lost. We the audience are then forced to become unwitting—and unwilling—voyeurs in a human, private tragedy.

I worked with a woman once who lost two of her four sons in a home fire. She stood outside her home with the two sons she had had time to rescue and watched in helpless desperation as the other two pounded in panic on an upstairs window before disappearing and perishing in the smoke and flames.

She endured the television cameramen playing on her and her two surviv-

Enzenauer earns U.S. Marine promotion

John Albert Enzenauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Enzenauer of Belleville was promoted to the rank of Private First Class and had received a Letter of Commendation for outstanding soldier and high performance in his company.

Enzenauer is in the small motor vehicle and diesel engine division.

Pvt. First Class Enzenauer completed his basic training at Fort Knox and is presently on a two year tour of Germany. He's stationed in Frankfurt.

Enzenauer of a 1980 graduate of Belleville High School.

Army Pvt. David D. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jones of 15287 Bailey, Taylor, has completed a tracked-vehicle mechanic course at the U.S. Army Armor School, Fort Knox, Ky.

During the course, students were trained to repair engines, transmissions, and the fuel, electrical and air hydraulic systems of the Army's tracked-vehicles. They also learned to perform recovery operations for abandoned, damaged, disabled or mired vehicles.

His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Augery Guenther of 29156 Manchester, Westland.

Jones is a 1974 graduate of Huron High School.

Pvt. Lawrence G. Rains, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Rains of 46695 Willis Road, Belleville, participated in Bold Eagle '82 a joint service readiness exercise at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla.

The exercise involved over 23,000 soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines in a simulated combat environment where air assault and mechanized infantry, along with armored and unconventional warfare and tactical air forces training were employed in realistic combat conditions.

Rains is a driver with the 101st Airborne Division, Fort Campbell, Ky.

He is a 1980 graduate of Belleville High School.

Airman Robert M. Edwards, son of Lois M. Jones of 11543 Dewitt, Belleville, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

Edwards is a 1981 graduate of Belleville High School.

Jon E. Jensen, 18, 7153 Belleville Rd., Belleville, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force today, departing here for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Following completion of basic, says his recruiter, Technical Sergeant Roy Smith, 3645 Metro Place Mall, Jensen has been guaranteed training as a Security Specialist.

Smith added that the 1981 graduate of Belleville High School will receive college credit for his Air Force training through the Community College of the Air Force.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Jensen will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Charles W. Atkinson, Jr., 18, son of Charles and Jeanette Atkinson, 30785 Halecreek, Romulus, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Technical Sergeant Roy Smith, the Air Force recruiter here, Atkinson's entry into the DEP serves two purposes.

First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Second, the DEP enables Atkinson, a 1981 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, to wrap up his personal affairs before leaving home.

Atkinson will enter the Regular Air Force on June 17, 1981. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the mechanical aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Theresa M. Ingle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund D. Mason of 3 Jefferson Place, Lebanon, N.H., has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of senior airman.

Ingle is an aircraft maintenance specialist at Luke Air Force Base, Ariz., with the 405th Aircraft Generation Squadron.

He is a 1976 graduate of Lebanon High School.

Her husband, Bobby, is the son of Lucille Rogers of 6000 Haggerty Road, Belleville.

Anthony W. Humphrey, son of Marcia G. Jones of 24376 Pennie, Dearborn Heights, Mich., has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of senior airman.

Humphrey is an administration specialist at England Air Force Base, La.,

with the 23rd Aircraft Generation Squadron.

His wife, Shellie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Clayton of 9667 Van Buren, Belleville.

Humphrey is a 1977 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, Mich.

Widow asks about pension

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.)

Q — Is there a time limit for applying for a widow's pension from the Veterans Administration?

A — No. There is no time limit. However, in order for benefits to be retroactive to the date of the veteran's death, application must be filed within one year of that date.

Q — I defaulted on a Veterans Administration guaranteed loan in 1971 and the VA claims I owe them money on their loss. They have notified me they are going to start collecting from my VA compensation check to pay this debt. I have not given permission for them to do so. Can this be done?

A — Yes. Your VA compensation may be withheld to satisfy a debt owed to the VA.

Q — I am a disabled veteran receiving 100 percent compensation from the Veterans Administration. Am I eligible for dental care?

A — Yes. Veterans receiving compensation at the 100 percent rate for service connected disabilities may apply for dental care at the nearest VA medical center.

Q — Does the Veterans Administration give small business loans?

A — No. The VA discontinued this program in 1975 and it is now operated by the Small Business Administration. Check the "U.S. Government" section of the local phone book for the number of the nearest SBA office.

Q — I am a World War II veteran who had Veterans Administration insurance at one time. I recently received a pamphlet saying I can receive a special insurance dividend on this cancelled insurance if I sent $10.00. Is this legitimate?

A — No. This is just another version of an old insurance hoax that has been circulating for years. The only dividends being paid by VA are to veterans who were issued participating policies and who have maintained the policies in a premium paying status.

Q — I am an honorably discharged veteran of World War II and have never applied for any benefits from the Veterans Administration. Will the VA pay any benefit for burial expenses when I die?

A — Yes. VA will pay $150 for the purchase of a burial plot for any eligible wartime veteran not buried in a national cemetery. As of Oct. 1, 1981, an allowance of $300 is available to all veterans who at time of death were receiving, or entitled to receive disability compensation, and to all veterans receiving, or entitled to receive pension.

Q — Is it possible for me to pay my Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan before it becomes due?

A — Yes. A VA guaranteed loan may be partially or fully paid at any time without penalty.

Wheat germ appetizers — m-m-m good!

Ideal snacks for holiday parties are serve yourself finger foods made with wheat germ. Whether offered in the family room by the fireplace or in a formal dining room, these two new appetizers from the Kretschmer Wheat Germ Kitchens fill the need beautifully. They are unusually savory and satisfying... perfect to serve with favorite yuletide drinks.

Wheat Germ Mushroom Appetizers

Wheat Germ Pastry Shells
½ cup finely chopped mushrooms
¼ cup finely chopped green onion
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular
3 tablespoons chopped water chestnuts
3 tablespoons minced parsley
¾ teaspoon marjoram leaves, crumbled
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, lightly beaten
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons dry sherry

Prepare and bake Wheat Germ Pastry Shells. Sauté mushrooms and onion in butter 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in remaining ingredients. Spoon into wheat germ shells. Sprinkle with additional wheat germ. Bake in 375° oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 2 dozen appetizers.

WHEAT GERM PASTRY SHELLS: Crumble 1 stick pie crust mix. Combine with ¼ cup vacuum packed regular wheat germ. Add 1 to 2 tablespoons cold water gradually, tossing to form a dough. Divide dough into 24 balls. Flatten and press one into each greased ¼ x ¾-inch muffin cup, lining bottom and sides evenly. Bake in 450° oven 5 to 7 minutes until lightly browned.

Wheat Germ Pesto Appetizers

1 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular 1 teaspoon basil leaves, crumbled
½ teaspoon salt
¾ lb. sharp cheddar or monterey jack cheese
2 eggs, beaten
Cooking oil
Pesto Sauce

Combine wheat germ, basil and salt in plastic or paper bag. Cut cheese into ¾-inch cubes. Add handful of cheese cubes to beaten eggs. Lift out with slotted spoon, allowing excess to drip off, then place in bag with wheat germ. Shake to coat. Remove coated cheese and set aside. Coat remaining cheese in same manner. Repeat dipping coated cheese in egg and shaking in wheat germ to give a double coating. Heat about 1½ inches oil in saucepan to 350°. Add a spoonful coated cheese cubes to oil. Cook about 45 seconds until lightly browned. DO NOT OVERCOOK. Remove with slotted spoon. Drain on paper towels. Keep warm while cooking remaining cheese cubes. Serve with picks to dip into Pesto Sauce. Makes about 3 to 4 dozen appetizers.

PESTO SAUCE: Combine 1½ cups parsley sprigs, packed, with ½ cup salad oil, ½ cup grated parmesan cheese, 2 tablespoons basil leaves, 1 medium clove garlic, cut up and 2 tablespoons wheat germ in blender. Whirl about 2 minutes until blended. Makes about 1 cup dipping sauce.

By Lee Smith Suburban Living Editor

A recent column by Sydney Harris in one of the big-city dailies prompted the lead for this week's "potpourri" — his comments bringing to mind some of the reactions we've experienced over the years in this newspaper office.

While he was on vacation, Harris tells his readers, a particularly offensive letter about him appeared in his hometown paper. Several of his acquaintances mentioned it to him and all said the same thing: "I was tempted to write a strong letter of rebuttal, but somehow I never got around to it."

"Naturally," he says, "naturally, because if there is one thing that has impressed me more than anything else during my long tenure as a columnist, it is the strength of the 'negative impulse' in the human race, as compared with the relative weakness of the positive impulse."

Harris goes on to say, "It's easy, even gratifying, to express ourselves when we are angry, irritated, defensive or frustrated. But it seems to take much more psychic effort to express ourselves when we are pleased, comforted, confirmed or supported. We will grumble about bad service at the drop of a napkin, but take superior service quite for granted."

And, in our own experiences here at the E-R office, we find his point well taken since "negativism" does seem to dominate in the public's attitude. We DO have many a good chuckle over the idiosyncracies of our fellow man but, alas, there are also days when those odd traits take the wind right out of our prideful sails. When, for instance, someone very upset calls to say we didn't include the rather lengthy description of the wedding cake (which we don't even have on the bridal questionnaire) but fails to say whether they liked all the rest we DID include.

That adverse reaction in this small "weekly" office, was in the minority, however, the past couple weeks, so it's a joy to be able to begin with the niceties (a smile, a thank you) which can turn a gloomy Thursday into instant El Sol.

One of "the" dearest ladies in Belleville (whose name I would love to mention except it would embarrass her, I know) dropped in quite unexpectedly one work day just to say hello and let us know how much she "appreciates" us — Diane and Leona's thoughtfulness and this Wednesday epistle which, she says, often "hits home" and so often cheers her up.

You can bet all three of us sat up a little straighter after we'd "come to" — people "dropping in" so often have a gripe to air and leave us somewhat deflated.

And when you're home and it's costing a caller long distance rates to tell you how delighted they were with a wedding write-up, it really compensates for the many who only contact us to complain.

There ARE occasional thank you notes, too, which really make it all worth while, our reaction at the office always being, "Wow!" Can you believe someone took the time to say something pleasant? A rather sad commentary on the human race, what?

Just so you'll have some idea of what the public has laid on us over the years, here are a few examples of trivial grumblings.

I'll begin with the nit-pickin'-est call I ever had. It concerned a wedding story I'd written or rather, the name-line under the newlyweds' photo; it seems the middle initial was wrong. The caller had tracked me down at work (and I say "tracked" because it was a day I was supervising my page make-up in Dearborn), and had to contact the local office first and then had placed the long distance call to ask for a correction — the one INITIAL was wrong!

Despite the fact I was completely flabbergasted, I rendered a short dissertation on human error then had the temerity (guts) to ask, "Other than that, how was the story, was anything wrong?" When I learned everything ELSE had been correct and the caller'd actually LIKED the write-up, I very brazenly said, "You know, it would have been SO nice had you spent all this time and money to say 'thanks' as well as to complain."

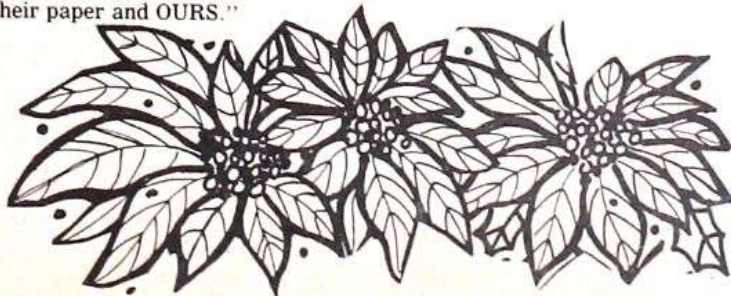

It makes me realize, though, the difference in peoples' attitudes and outlooks on life. One lovely gal who SHOULD have put a call into yours truly (since the entire male entourage of her wedding was omitted from the story) never said a word, not to us or others, apparently, since not a bit of feedback has reached our ears. We discovered the omission and tried calling to apologize (should she be reading this) but failed to get an answer. This is my PUBLIC penance for not catching the slip-up.

Another recent incident involved a C.C. (complaint call) from a subscriber who was rather indignant that the office had sent him notice of payment due (if he cared to renew the paper.) That's the problem with people today, he said, they just ASSUME you want something and never take the time to find out. A personal telephone call ASKING him if he WANTED the paper would be in order, he said, and because of our presumption, he was cancelling!

Still another very irate citizen lambasted us for a story that did not make it into our Wayne newspaper. I explained that I'd done my part, seeing to it that it ran in our Belleville and Romulus editions, that I had nothing to do with the layout of our neighboring counterpart, I simply could NOT get through to the caller that it WAS appearing locally — she was adamant that I was to blame for its omission elsewhere. Some days...

Then there are the people who expect "complimentary" copies of the paper because they "let us" include their engagement, wedding, anniversary, birth announcement, whatever. To begin with, they are always taken aback somewhat that we do not CHARGE for these amenities, then turn right around and are perturbed because we're not offering freebies.

But, all in all, those occasional notes, letters, calls and face-to-face compliments override whatever peculiarities we have to meet. Just having those few people say, "Hey, that was a good column" or "We were so pleased to send the story to our relatives (elsewhere) — you should have seen the difference in their paper and OURS."

Those special folks with their positive outlook on life make it all worth while — we thrive on them and thank them sincerely.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Cookies are probably one of the oldest traditions of the holidays. It's said that pagans in northern Europe started it by imprinting small pieces of dough with animal shapes that had been carved in wooden blocks and molds.

Modern, beautifully shaped and decorated springerle and spritz are the descendants of those early cookies. So are the cutters that are used for roll-and-cut types.

The word cookies comes to us from the Dutch, "koekje", a form of "kock", meaning cake. So cookies are small, sweet, flat or only slightly raised "little cakes."

Throughout the years, cookies have taken on what could be called national characteristics. Those from France are fancy and dainty; Spanish cookies are thin and spicy. German counterparts may be thin and dainty or large and hearty with plenty of fruits and nuts while Scandinavian goodies are rich and buttery, with emphasis on shape.

And, of course, we Americans love our gingerbread people, our Tollhouse confections and those fancy cut-out sugar gems. We'll tell you more about the "gingerbread man" next week. In the meantime, here's our holiday recipe of the week — amazingly, it's a COOKIE!

HIDDEN SURPRISE COOKIES

½ cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ cup chocolate-covered raisins
¼ cup chopped nuts

Cream together first four ingredients, add egg and mix thoroughly. Mix in next three ingredients and finally the candies and nuts. Drop by teaspoonful on ungreased cookie sheet, bake for 10 minutes (or until lightly browned) at 375 degrees.

THE BOTTOM LINE: The most frustrating thing about auctions is seeing someone bid $100 for an item you encouraged your parents to give to the junkman a few years back.

Baehr family outing combines holiday, 45th anniversary

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Baehr enjoyed a double holiday on Nov. 26 when they had dinner at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth with their daughter, Nancy and husband David Abbeg, and their daughter, Dawn of Ann Arbor. Not only did they celebrate Thanksgiving, but also their 45th wedding anniversary which fell on Nov. 25 as well. Congratulations, Baehrs!

Mrs. Juanita Akers returned Nov. 30 after having spent ten days with son, Roy, his wife and family at Leesburg, Va. They not only celebrated Thanksgiving together but also the November birthdays in the family.

ner were members of their family; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Wilson and three small sons from Caro and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Whitehouse, from Dearborn.

Mrs. Caryl (Doris) Smith of Tyler Road was a luncheon guest of her brother, Gerald Richey of Lansing, last week in celebration of her birthday.

Michael Bramlett was a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Reuther of Effingham, Ill. were weekend guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. Helen White of Bedell Street. They not only enjoyed Thanksgiving with her, but helped celebrate her birthday on Nov. 30.

Mrs. Mary Mumford is now recuperating at her home after having undergone recent foot surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson were recent overnight guests of a former Belleville resident, Mrs. Lewis Lester at Lake City.

For their holiday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Potts joined other members of the family at the home of their son, Tom and wife of Wayne. Others present were the Tim Potts family, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allen and son, Steven, and the senior Mrs. Potts' sister, Mrs. Helen Staron of Westland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hill of Liberty Street were Thursday guests of their daughter, Mrs. Ann Horn of Livonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Buck, Mrs. Milton Smith and the ladies' sister, Evon Harrison of Wayne, were dinner guests of the former's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pawlowski of Milan, on Thanksgiving.

After having been a medical patient at Beyer

Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti for several days, Mrs. Rosetta Harrison returned to her home on Spencer Street No. 26.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and family of Allegan were holiday guests of the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Smith of Tyler Road. Their mother, Mrs. Caryl Smith, also was present.

Saturday luncheon guests of Mrs. Stella Cox of Liberty Street were niece, Judy Kurth of Escanaba, and son Chet; her daughters, Lori Kurth of Kalamazoo, and Rhonda Kurth of Battle Creek. After attending the Lions' game at the Silverdome, all were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Cox of Denton Road.

Edward and Jane Wilson of Fremont were holiday guests of the former's parents, the George C. Wilsons of East Huron River Drive.

Mrs. Mary Mumford was pleasantly surprised when her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Halverson of Spokane, Wash., unexpectedly arrived Thanksgiving morning at the home of another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Chubb of Taylor. All enjoyed the holiday together as well as the weekend.

In celebration of her birthday, Mrs. Muriel Bearance was a guest of five of her long-time friends at a luncheon at Fairlane Dec. 1. The ladies also toured the Ford Mansion which is always lovely at the Christmas Season.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson were guests at a second holiday dinner on Sunday, Nov. 29, at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Ruth Kerkes of Milan.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Quinley and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton have returned home from Mesquite where they had spent some time during the hunting season. Both men proved their good marksmanship by getting a deer.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Marshall and daughters, Lynn and Kathie, from Roxbury, Conn. were guests over the holiday weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Akans of Belleville and Mrs. Marshall's mother, Mrs. Muriel

Smith of Romulus.

The annual Christmas party of the Kitchen Belles Band was held at the Savage Road home of their director, Myrtle Wells, Nov. 30. Present were 12 members of the band who enjoyed an evening of refreshments, appropriate games and planning for various upcoming activities.

High Flyers 4-H Club visits Apple Tree Lane, entertains residents

Members of the High Flyers 4-H Club and its leaders entertained residents of the Apple Tree Lane Convalescent Home in Romulus at a pre-holiday party Nov. 20.

The group performed a song-action version of "She'll Be Comin' Round the Mountain"; Carrie Cook, in authentic costume, did a Pilish dance routine and all joined in for a songfest which included Christmas carols as well as other favorites.

The club later assisted with card bingo, had prizes for all and treated residents to ice cream, cake and punch plus a "goodie" treat.

Those taking part were Agnes and Carrie Cook, Sophie and Pam Zoller, Marie, Debbie and Mike Drongowski, Mary and Tracie Ferrell, Tom and Chris Sutter, Melissa Meland, Natalie Higgins, Erica Derhammer, Jason, Beth, Carrie and Jimmy Howard and their mother; Kim Willcutt and Charmaine Parker.

OES party draws 100 to Masonic

The annual Christmas party of Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order Eastern Star, was held at the Masonic Temple Dec. 2 with over 100 children and adults present.

Following a buffet dinner, the children were grouped together for pictures and a short program before Santa arrived with gifts for all.

Tiny crocheted ice skates were the favors made by the Worthy Matron's mother, Frances Cothern. Winners of the two holiday baskets were Pam Clark of Belleville and the holder of a ticket in Kentucky. A handmade Christmas wreath was won by Mr. Claxton and a candy tree by Christine McAttee of New Boston.

WOTM holiday parties slated

A combined Christmas party and WOTM chapter meeting with the Social Service Committee in charge will be held at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 14 at the VFW Hall in Romulus. This will be a potluck dinner so members are to bring a dish to pass plus a $3 gift to exchange. The meeting with enrollment will be held at 8 p.m.

The College of Regents Christmas party will be held Dec. 15 at the home of Helen Jacobs with a potluck dinner and secret pal gift exchange slated.

New arrival

All Savers Certificate

If you elect to receive interest at maturity there is no compounding and the interest rate on your All Savers Certificate will be 8.34%. If you wish to have interest payable monthly or quarterly, the annual simple interest rate on your All Savers Certificate will be 8.010% and interest retained in your All Savers Certificate will be continuously compounded for an effective annual yield of 8.34%. These rates are available for All Savers Certificates opened through December 24, 1981. Rates for accounts opened after December 24, 1981, will be announced later. However, the rate established at the time an All Savers Certificate is opened is the rate in effect for the full one-year term of the account. You should also know that in the event of early withdrawal from an All Savers Certificate federal law and regulations require a substantial early withdrawal penalty and loss of the interest exclusion for federal income tax purposes. The All Savers rate of 8.34% is equivalent to the yields for taxable investments shown in the table. This table demonstrates how the All Savers Certificates can provide you with a higher after-tax yield than you may be earning from a money market mutual fund or on other investments. The deposit needed in your All Savers Certificate to achieve the maximum allowable deduction is $23,980.82 for a joint return and $11,990.41 for an individual return.

Compare the Tax-Free All Savers Rate of 8.34% with Yields on Taxable Investments.

TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS	TAXABLE INCOME ON A JOINT RETURN	COMPARABLE YIELD ON TAXABLE INVESTMENTS
$10,000.00	10.17%	$ 70,000.00	18.13%
20,000.00	10.97%	80,000.00	18.13%
30,000.00	13.24%	90,000.00	20.34%
40,000.00	14.63%	100,000.00	20.34%
50,000.00	16.35%	110,000.00	23.17%
60,000.00	16.35%	120,000.00	23.17%

The yields shown in this table are based on 1981 tax rates but do not reflect the effects of any tax credits that may be available in 1981, nor do they take into account the 50% maximum tax rate on salary and wages. If tax-free interest is received in 1982, the comparable yield on taxable investments should be calculated using 1982 tax rates. In addition, the yield for the All Savers Certificate actually will be somewhat higher because the amount excluded from federal income tax is also not taxed by the State of Michigan.

Here's what the one-year All Savers Certificate can mean to you.

- You can exclude up to $2,000.00 interest from federal income tax on a joint return ($1,000.00 on an individual return). The amount excluded is also not taxed by the State of Michigan.
- Your All Savers Certificate is insured to $100,000.00 by the FSLIC.
- Your interest rate is guaranteed for the full term of the certificate, unlike other investments such as money market funds where rates fluctuate daily.
- You can participate with a deposit of $500.00 or more.
- Funds in your Standard Federal 26-Week Money Market Certificate can be transferred to an All Savers Certificate without any early withdrawal penalty on the transferred funds.

Romulus crushes Bedford in cage opener

Stewart pumps in 31 points to get Eagles off to flying start

By ERIC GEARNS

Romulus Eagles opened the 1981 cage campaign flying high as they crushed Temperance Bedford 84-53 in their opener last Friday night.

Things should get a little tougher this Friday, however, as Coach Al Wilkerson's cagers travel to last year's Class B state champions Willow Run.

The Eagles were led by their superb playmaker Bob Stewart, a senior guard who poured in 31 points hitting on 15 of 22 shots from the floor and one of one from the foul line.

In addition, Stewart added six assists to the Eagle fast break offense.

Romulus got off to a quick 10-4 start, but turnover and some poor rebounding let Bedford back into the ball game and the first period ended in a 14-14 deadlock.

Wilkerson had his Eagles apply the full court press in the second stanza and Stewart contributed four field goals to give the Eagles a 32-23 halftime advantage.

The Eagles continued the press in the third period and outscored their bigger opponents 24-8 to take a 56-31 bulge into the final quarter. Stewart pumped in 10 points in that surge.

With the reserves playing most of the way in the final quarter, Romulus still outscored the Bedford team 27-22 in a wide open period of play to push their final margin to 31 points.

Also in double figures for the Eagles was pivotman Bill McNeil who hit on nine field goals for 18 points. Point guard Troy Williams was a key to the offense for the Eagles dishing out 12 assists and Patrick Bell did an outstanding job rebounding, pulling down 12 boards.

Wilkerson felt the key to the teams performance was an outstanding team defense.

"We played an excellent ball game defensively and we got a lot of help from our bench. I do believe we are going to have to do a better job on the boards if we are going to stay with some of the tough opponents we have coming up," Wilkerson said.

Bedford placed a trio in double figures as Bart Leu had 12 points, Dave Tanis had 11 and Brian Krupp chipped in 10.

Romulus shot an excellent 58 percent from the floor, while hitting on only 56 percent of their charity tosses.

"We are definitely going to have to do a better job from the foul line. Playing the schedule we are we have to take advantage of every opportunity to score," said Wilkerson.

The Eagle Jayvee also started their season on the right foot defeating Temperance Bedford 50-44.

Taylor Center edges Glenn

Five returning starters powered visiting Taylor Center to a thrilling 63-61 non-league victory over John Glenn Friday night when a last-second Rocket shot rimmed the hoop and bounced out.

"It was a very exciting game right down to the final buzzer and we had a chance to send it into overtime but Jeff Hawley's desperation bounced in and out," said Rocket Coach Dan Henry.

"I was very pleased with our players' hustle and never-say-die attitude against a veteran Taylor Center team that is given a good chance to win their league championship this year. They have five starters back from last year's team and I was happy the way our young ballplayers stayed with them all the way."

Glenn not only stayed with their visitors but even led 27-19 with a little more than three minutes left in the first half.

"That's where we lost the ballgame," Henry said. "Instead of playing slow-down control offense and looking for the good shot, we got into a running game with them and they outscored us 11-1 in the last three minutes of the first half to take a 30-28 lead.

Glenn had jumped into a 13-12 first quarter lead when guard Bo Whitner stole the ball and dropped in a lay-up at the buzzer. Bob Hawley, senior brother to sophomore Jeff, scored six of his 15 points in the opening stanza.

Leading 30-28 entering the third quarter, the visiting Rams kept their running game in gear and ripped off a 19-13 third period scoring margin for a 49-41 lead. Glenn's full-court press rattled Taylor Center in the final period and its furious rally had the large crowd cheering wildly. Jeff Hawley, a 5-9 favorite of the crowd, pumped in 11 of his game-high 20 points in the last quarter to bring Glenn to the brink of victory.

Jerry Foster, who tied teammate Ed Jones for scoring honors for the visitors with 14 points, dropped in two free throws with one minute to play to put Taylor Center up 63-59.

Glenn scored to cut the margin to 63-61 with 30 seconds left and forced the Rams into a turnover as the crowd went wild. With just a few ticks left on the scoreboard clock, Jeff Hawley fired up a shot from near the top of the key. The shot hit the rim, rolled around and bounced out as the partisans groaned in disappointment.

But the strong showing by Glenn against a veteran ballclub like Taylor Center promises good things ahead, Henry believes. "We played good defense and our kids worked their heads off," he said. "However, we didn't block out on the boards and they killed us by getting two and three shots at a time. For instance, they got 20 points off of offensive rebounds.

"But, all in all, they played pretty well for the opening game and they are quite inexperienced. I'm especially happy with the great fans we have and the large number that turned out for the game. They are a tremendous inspiration to our young players who are coming along fast."

Henry's Rockets will have to mature fast because they open up their Northwest Suburban League schedule Friday night at Garden City East, a team that barely lost to a good Cherry Hill squad, 61-55. Glenn was also scheduled to play at Taylor Kennedy on Tuesday of this week.

G.C. East has a couple of returning starters and is favored to be in the running for the NSL championship in what should be a wide-open race.

Henry, starting his third year as Rocket coach, was happy with the play of the Hawley brothers and Jack Walker, who chipped in 12 points. Whitner drilled in nine points from his guard spot in addition to guiding the offense and playing full-court defense. "Everybody played hard all the way and that's what I like to see," Henry said.

Vikings at Northland

Ex-Inkster Viking cage stars, Kenneth Crouch (at left) and Thaddous Foreman are members of the Northland Community College basketball team in Thief River Falls, Minnesota. The Northmen are coached by Chet Engleman. Kenneth, a sophomore, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crouch and Thaddous, a freshman, is the son of Clistrene Simpson.

Cherry Hill looks good in cage opener

Playing over a bucketful of turnovers, Cherry Hill managed to eke out a 61-55 victory over Garden City East in the 1981-82 cage opener for both teams.

Coach Dave Bogataj's Spartans struggled for the first two periods before a pesky man-to-man fullcourt press and junior forward Vondale Tate got them rolling.

Tate drilled 11 of his 13 points in the third period while his teammates outscored East 27-10 to lift the defending Tri-River Conference champs to a commanding 49-36 lead for three periods. After that it was only a matter of time.

"We're a very young, but ambitious team," Coach Bogataj noted after the initial victory. "We got nine juniors in our line-up, and this is one of the reasons why we committed so many turnovers. We tried to give this one away."

Bogataj had to suffer through a hefty 27 miscues and watched his minions fight an uphill battle during most of the first two quarters. Although the Spartans were ahead 8-6 after the first stanza, they trailed 26-22 at the half, despite the efforts of John Green who kept the Spartans in the game with 21 points.

Cherry Hill connected on 26 of 60 from the field and canned nine of 17 from the free throw line.

Along with Green, Vondale Tate and Tom Tietruszka also hit in double figures. Tate tossed 13, while Tietruszka added 10.

East received 15 points from Mike Curlyo and Bob Kosowski picked up 14. Cherry Hill begins the defense of its conference title Friday night as it takes on Taylor Kennedy, one of three teams Bogataj figures that could give the Spartans a run for their money.

"Kennedy, Riverside and Melvindale always have to be considered among the serious contenders in this league," Bogataj said. "but I am optimistic about our chances. We have a talented club which has to be contended with this year."

The Spartans piled up an untarnished 14-0 conference mark a year ago. They finished with a 16-5 over-all record in 1980-81.

Defense-minded Salem '5' stops Walled Lake Central

Plymouth Salem cagers' defense never "rests its case."

While that saying may be true in a court of law, it's never pertinent to Coach Fred Thomann's perennially defense-minded teams who are all over the court of basketball.

The Rocks opened their 1981 season with a 50-44 victory over Walled Lake Central Friday night in non-league action.

"I'm a firm believer that good defense is the key to winning basketball games," said the veteran coach after Friday's victory. "If you play good defense and limit the other team's scoring, your team has to score less points to win."

Thomann's theory is simple — and effective. But he works hard at the job year after year to turn out excellent cage squads. This year's quintet is expected to be another vintage Thomann product — tough defense, disciplined offense and all-out hustle every game.

Friday's result was a typical Salem win in a low-scoring contest. The Rocks were momentarily stunned when Central scored the first seven points of the game to lead 7-0. However, the Rocks hardened and fired in the next 10 points to take a 10-7 lead after the first period.

The defensive struggle continued through the second period as Salem amnageda 10-9 edge for a 20-16 halftime advantage. A 12-11 edge in the third quarter gave Salem a 32-27 margin after three periods before an 18-17 last quarter margin rounded out the scoring.

Junior forward John Cohen led the Rocks in scoring with 14 points on seven field goals, while Mike McBride, David Miller and Scott Bublin each added four field goals for eight points.

Walled Lake Central was paced by 6-foot-7 center Jeff Sewell, who dropped in 13 points and pulled down 16 rebounds to keep the underdog hosts within striking distance.

Scott Engle, a 6-3 guard, pumped in five field goals from the key area, 6-5 forward Tom Nicklin added nine markers and Dean Terpstra scored eight. Central only used six players in the game, while Thomann played nine Rocks and all of them scored.

"Walled Lake Central never made a serious threat in the second half although we never were able to gain more than a six point lead," Thomann said. "I was happy with the first game and was fairly well pleased with the results. But we're in the process of evaluating our kids to find the right combination and our lineup is not really set yet."

Thomann said David Houle, a player who figures strongly in Salem's plans this year, should be ready for action when Salem returns to the court at home against Trenton Friday night. Houle suffered a slight injury in football and sat out Friday's game but started practicing Saturday morning. Salem was idle Tuesday of this week and should defeat Trenton, who was drubbed by Monroe last week.

"We're going to try and scout Trenton before our game with them," Thomann pointed out. "But our main job will be to move the ball better. We were over-eager to score and made a lot of turnovers against Walled Lake — but I guess that's pretty typical of a first game effort."

"Defensively we were solid and everyone played hard, especially in the second half."

Now Salem gets ready to recapture the Suburban "8" League title after finishing 11-8 overall last season and failing to win the crown after several successive league cage titles.

Westlander eyes Ferris cage berth

Kim Cesarz, a 5-10 freshman from Westland, will be competing for Coach Pat Dolan's 1981 women's basketball squad at Ferris State College.

Cesarz averaged 13 points and 10 rebounds per contest as a high school senior at Westland John Glenn. She was also a three time all-conference selection and should fit into the Bulldogs inside game plan.

Cesarz, who is majoring in applied mathematics at Ferris, is the daughter of Norman and Lois Cesarz, of Westland.

Glenn to host mat invitational

With New Boston Huron absent from the field, the 1981 Westland John Glenn Invitational Wrestling Tournament is assured to a new team champion.

Glenn will host its prestigious tournament on Saturday with a 16-team format. Among teams that will compete from this area are: Wayne Memorial, Belleville, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Edsel Ford and Garden City West.

Look for Salem, which finished second at the Temperance Bedford tournament last weekend, and for a greatly improved Wayne Memorial team to give the host a battle for the championship.

Wrestling will begin at 11 a.m. on Saturday. The finals are at 7:30 p.m. There is a small admission charge for both the preliminary and final matches.

IN the meantime, John Glenn trimmed Trenton 29-23 to stretch its dual meet record to 5-0 on the season. The Westlanders also have posted victories over Canton, 41-15, Flushing, 62-11, Ypsilanti, 53-14.

"Our early season successes are very welcomed," said Glenn coach Bob Lusk. "but we must make much improvement if we are to have a good season."

Huron ruins Wayne cage coach's debut

Zebras to open league against veteran Taylor Center quintet

By ERIC GEARNS
(Special Writer)

Wayne Memorial's first boys basketball game in its new gym will not go down as a classic.

In fact, if it were up to new head coach Dan Vasiloff he'd just as soon forget the Zebras opening 74-47 loss to powerful Ann Arbor Huron last Friday night.

It took just two minutes for the River Rats to spoil the Zebras home opener as they reeled off five unanswered baskets to take a 10-0 lead and ruin the Zebra game plan of a deliberate ball control offense.

Fred McEwen a 6-2 sharpshooter, scored eight of the first 10 points for the River Rats, including a length of the court drive finished by a fan pleasing slam dunk. Ann Arbor finished the first period on top by a 24-10 margin.

Led by senior forward Steve Coleman and reserve junior guard Shaun Boyer, the Zebras played much better in the second quarter, but were not able to make up the visitors early advantage and went into the locker room trailing 38-22 at the half.

With reserve point guard Sam Lentine joining Boyer and Coleman in the third quarter the Zebras managed to outscore the River Rats 12-11, to enter the final quarter trailing 49-34.

The Ann Arbor bench strength and size proved too much for the Zebras in the final stanza as they outscored Wayne 25-13 to stretch their final margin of victory to 27 points.

"We were just outmatched in size, speed and depth. But I was still proud of the way our kids hung in there," said Vasiloff.

The Zebras were paced by Boyer with 11 points and Coleman added eight. McEwen topped all scorers for Ann Arbor with 19 points.

The Zebras must travel to Taylor Center this Friday for their league opener against Taylor Center, an upset winner last week over John Glenn.

Despite 14 points each by Kevin Daily and Mike Quartuccio the jayvee Zebras under first year coach Gary Niemczak could not overcome some cold shooting and fell to Ann Arbor Huron 62-44.

Wayne wins Belleville tourney

Wayne Memorial served notice last week via an impressive victory at the Belleville Wrestling Invitational that it is ready to assume the role of area powerhouse.

Piling up a total of 158 team points, Coach Don Haney's grapplers claimed a convincing victory over host, Belleville, and six other competing teams to capture their first major invitational championship of the season.

Belleville, the defending champ, garnered 138 points, was runner-up, followed by Plymouth Canton (121½), New Boston Huron (69½), Romulus (62½), Northville (66), and Ann Arbor Pioneer (50).

Wayne also picked up four gold medals thanks to T. J. Harris (98), Paul Justice (112), Dan Matauch (119) and Joe Samples (138).

Canton proved to have the best 132-pounder in Brian Lee and also came away with first place medals in the 145-pound class, Steve Hamblin, and the 155-pound class, Marty Heaton.

Belleville and Romulus were represented in the winner's circle with Melvin Richendollar (198) and Eric Waters (126), respectively.

New Boston, which lost its veteran coach Tom

Fritz to a millage squeeze, earned a gold medal through the efforts of 185-pounder, Randy Manny.

New Boston is also the state's Class B defending champ.

4 hockey teams wage title war

There's a logjam atop of each division in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League.

After nine hectic weeks, four teams continue to battle for divisional supremacy.

Jake's Lounge maintained its tie for first place with Little Bill's Trophies in the Bonkowski Division by skating to a 2-1 decision over Family Heating.

Rick Mullen netted both goals for Jake's with Terry Lindsey, Jim O'Goza and Tom Panackiz picking up the assists.

Norm Beasley tallied for Family Heating's Lone goal and Jack Bockstanz collected the assist.

Little Bill's kept alive by outskating Johnson Carbonic, 4-1. Joe Soukop scored one goal and picked up two assists while Nelson Vanderburgh, Al Robertson and Ron Swider tallied for one goal apiece. Jim McMaster, Paul Briski and Mike Kozub finished with one assist.

Ron Johnson scored late in the third period for Johnson Carbonic with Bob Murray and Dale Fawkes assisting.

The Berrington Division shows Tastee Freez and Brock Builders tied for first place with both teams securing victories this week.

Tastee Freez jumped off to a 4-0 lead before Benny's Pizzeria could get on the scoreboard. Tastee Freez continued applying pressure to log a 7-2 win. Dave Frankling tallied twice and picked up one assist; Bob Eggers scored one goal and assisted on four others; Dan Thomas also scored one goal and had one assist with Dave Cherry, George Motts, and John Kunz rounding out the Freezers scoring with one goal apiece.

Picking up the assists were Paul Mayworm, and Guy Moise with two, while Ken Beal and Bob Wood finished with passing one.

Benny's scoring included Dave Zajac and Curtis Oger with Tony Ianni and Dale Hayes picking up the assists.

Brock Builders skated back in the second and third periods to hand Etronic a 7-6 loss.

Brock's Ken Murray scored two goals also picked up three assists; John Colligan netted the puck twice, the second was the game winner with 1:47 remaining. He also picked up one assist. Larry Kaifesh tallied once and received three assists. Dave Harris and Layne Cardinal rounded out Brock's scoring with one goal apiece. Dennis Lapensee picked up two assists as Mike Adamson, Ray LeCorno and Art Cazabon finished with one assist.

Etronic got on the scoreboard with Jim Thomas scoring twice, Ken Howe and Jerry Robertson tallied for one goal and two assists, with Tom DiLaura and Jim Drewry accounting for one goal apiece.

Nick Palise received two assists. George Sharpe finished with one assist. It appeared as though Etronic had this game won until Brock's broke loose in the third period.

All Sorts Sports got in the winning column by skating past Futurama 6-4. Futurama took an early lead only to have All Sorts Sports come back in the second and third periods to take the game. Ron Wojewski and Paul Cramer tallied twice for the winners with Ralph Tack netting the puck once and picking up one assist with Dick Burns accounting for one game.

Jim McClure and Larry Holt received two assists with John Castellanos finishing with one assist.

Futurama's scoring was done by Dave Roberts, Chuck Jennett, Dan Demers and Conrad Madaleno. Picking up the assists were John McFadden, Howard Flemming, Dave Zielinski and Tom Bryans.

The Over 30 games are played Sunday evenings at the Wayne and Westland Rinks. There is no admission charge.

On Sunday, Dec. 13, All Sorts Sports will play Little Bill's at 7:30 p.m.; Family Heating will host Brock Builders at 9 p.m., and Etronic will run up against Tastee Freez at 10:30 p.m.

All three games will be played at the Westland rink.

Over in Wayne, Benny's Pizzeria and Johnson Carbonic are scheduled at 3:30 p.m., with Jake's Lounge skating against Futurama Engineering at 10 p.m.

DRAMA

Westland student cast in college play

The Cultural Activities Program at Henry Ford Community College will salute the great American playwright, Tennessee Williams, during December with movies, lectures and drama presentations.

Highlighting the festival is the college drama department's production of Williams' classic tale of love and loneliness, "Summer and Smoke," to be presented Dec. 11, 12 and 13 in the Adray Auditorium of the MacKenzie Fine Arts Center. Ronald Worsley, drama instructor, will direct the production.

"Summer and Smoke" takes place in the year 1914 and centers around the life of Alma Winemiller, a lonely young Southern woman who longs for love and is trying to break out of the constraints imposed upon her as a minister's daughter.

Alma falls in love with the boy next door, a young, handsome, wordly doctor, John Buchanan. John's hedonistic values are exactly the opposite of Alma's conservative morals, and the two never quite communicate. However, by the end of the drama, events have led the two to seemingly exchange personalities and values.

Monica Chavez of Westland is cast as Rosa Gonzales, a young Mexican woman who works in her father's roadhouse and attracts the attentions of the young doctor.

Tickets are $3 general admission, $2 for students and senior citizens and can be purchased in advance at the Convenience Center in the Student Center or at the door on performance nights.

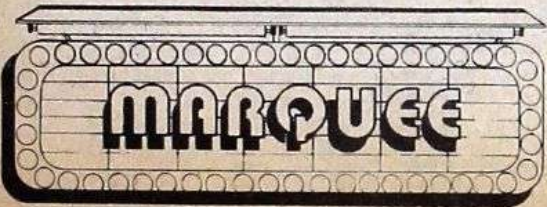

Among the films based on Williams' plays to be shown on campus during the festival is the Oscar-winning movie, "A Streetcar Named Desire," starring Marlon Brando, Vivien Leigh and Karl Malden, slated Dec. 10 at 12:40, 7 and 9:30 p.m. in Room L-14. The film is set in a grim New Orleans tenement district and tells the tale of Stanley, an animalistic character played by Brando, who interacts with the wistfully neurotic Blanche DuBois, played by Leigh.

"Sweet Bird of Youth," Williams' testimony to the connection between evil and failure, will be presented at 2, 7 and 9 p.m., Dec. 16 and 17. Geraldine Page portrays an aging, alcoholic Hollywood has-been and Paul Newman turns in a performance as the young man who lives with her in order to land a movie contract.

All events, except "Summer and Smoke," are free. For more information, contact the Cultural Activities Program at 271-2750, ext. 332.

Monica Chavez of Westland is shown rehearsing a scene in Henry Ford Community College's production of "Summer and Smoke" to be presented this weekend in the Adray Auditorium of the MacKenzie Fine Arts Center. Chavez, cast as Rosa Gonzales, attracts the attention of a young doctor, played by Jim Mousigian.

Another 'Halloween' may end horror glut

"Halloween II," from Universal Pictures. Directed by Rick Rosenthal. Written by John Carpenter and Debra Hill. Starring Jamie Lee Curtis, Donald Pleasence. Rated "R."

By J. T. YURKO
 Special to Playtime
 If you saw "Halloween," then you should know what to expect from "Halloween II."

Jamie Lee Curtis, the scream queen of horror films, is once again haunted and hounded by something that "was not even remotely human." Add a few more scenes of violence and a lot more gore than the first film and you have a blood-stained sequel.

The original "Halloween" was the most successful independent film ever made. Shot on a minimal budget, the film made a fortune, set up John Carpenter as a talented new director, and launched Jamie Lee Curtis into a bunch of films that tried to capitalize on "Halloween's" success.

The problem was that most of these films were not nearly as well made as "Halloween." There was very little gore in the first film, and it built up a good deal of suspense rather than presenting a series of shocks.

Although a lot of the shock/shock films made money, the only talent on display was the special effects guy who set up the various decaying corpses, decapitated heads and limbs, and buckets of artificial blood.

Films such as "Halloween II" appeal to a specialized taste, and those horror film fans will not be disappointed by this sequel. What is most interesting about the film is that it comes at a time when the genre seems to be diminishing.

Fright films have been around nearly as long as film itself, and will continue past "Halloween 15" if there is such a thing. But there is every indication that the sequel may mark the end of the horror film glut, just as the original marked its opening.

'Halloween II' is a blood-stained sequel.

Boxing show set

An All-Star Amateur Boxing Show, sponsored by the Westland Sparks and the Westland-Garden City Boxing Club, will be held Dec. 19 at the Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road in Westland.

Included on the 10-bout card, which begins at 7:30 p.m., are Taurus Fikes, a 14-year-old national champion in the 100-pound division; Ralph Rivera, a promising Golden Gloves contender; Stan Kane, a 160 pounder from Eastern Michigan University, and Steve Darnel.

All proceeds will be donated to the Westland Sparks wheelchair basketball team. The 171 Col- or Guard will open the

Van Buren Township Arts Council seeks local participation

The Van Buren Township Arts Council hopes to expand the area's awareness of the performing and visual arts through a series of programs and promotions.

Initiated by the township's parks and recreation department, the newly formed council conducts meetings on the second Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall, 46425 Tyler. This week's session (Dec. 10) will feature a presentation by recreation director Mark Rairick regarding the Community Artist in Residency Training (CART) program.

Rairick, who attended a three-day CART seminar last week in Indianapolis, said the program is designed to bring a performing artist into the community in the future as a way of making the area aware of the Arts Council's endeavors.

CART and the seminar are funded through the National Endowment of the Arts and the Great Lakes Arts Alliance.

"Among the short range goals of the council is putting on a large arts show in Van Buren Park," said Rairick. "It would be held in the late summer or early fall of next year and bring together local and statewide talent. We also are planning a musical for the spring of '82."

According to the recreation director, the council also is attempting to expand its membership and supplement school programs in the arts.

Long range goals of the group include establishing a self-supporting performing arts group, unifying the various arts groups in Belleville and Van Buren Township and exploring national, state and local talent.

To meet its long and short range goals, the Arts Council will explore a number of fund raising avenues, Rairick pointed out.

"Anyone in Belleville, Van Buren Township and surrounding areas who is interested in the performing and visual arts is encouraged to attend the Dec. 10 meeting," he declared.

Science Center has workshops for children

Clucking hens, balancing horses, hot air balloons and parachutes. Children who attend the December Workshops at the Detroit Science Center will make these and other toys based on the scientific principles of acoustics, gravity and aerodynamics.

Workshops are a regular feature of the Detroit Science Center and are designed to illustrate science. December workshops devoted to toys and science will be held on December 12 and 19 at 10 a.m., and 12 noon. Each session lasts one hour and uses ordinary materials such as wire, string, cardboard and paper. Under the direction of Paul Passeno, Educational Coordinator, workshops are adapted to the age groups attending.

Workshop price is $1 per child with regular admission to the Science Center. Regular admission includes the exhibit hall, plaza and Omnimax films in the Space Theater. During December family admission is $6 per family if tickets are purchased before 1 p.m. on week-ends. Call 833-1892 for information.

The Science Center is at 5020 John R and attended parking is available.

Van Buren Chorus will present concert

Van Buren Township's Adult Community Chorus will present its fourth annual Christmas concert at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the First United Methodist Church, located at 417 Charles in Belleville.

Accompanying the chorus will be harpist Becky Bard, a student at the University of Michigan, and pianist Sue Sotomayor. Joining in the concert for the first time will be the Children's Community Chorus of Van Buren.

Elvis Smith, Kathy and Karen Lyons and Glenn Davidson will give solo performances while Kyle McCreight, Adam Steffins and Cyndy Taylor are the featured children soloists.

According to director Kathy Rairick, the theme of the concert is "What the World Needs Now is Love." Ticket donations will be accepted at the door.

Harmony's value is timeless

BEACH BOYS
"Ten Years of Harmony"
(CBS)

When people think of the Beach Boys, they think of the revised Chuck Berry riffs that became teen anthems of fast cars and girls, surfing, and simply fun, fun, fun. And while their surf period music still brings chills of refreshing nostalgia, their later period stuff has been sadly overlooked by the public at large.

In particular, "Surf's Up" and "Holland" were classic albums, showing not only maturity in technique, but also in songwriting. They became topical, and while lines like "So hard to answer future's riddle/When ahead seems so far behind" may have dated a bit, the music that surrounds them hasn't.

Both of the above mentioned albums have been unavailable for years, as has "Sunflower," another first-rate LP. Happily, it is from these three records that "Ten Years of Harmony" draws from primarily, taking only occasional cuts from not-so-successful LP's like "L.A. Light Album" and "Keepin' The Summer Alive." Also included are a couple of previously unreleased cuts, to add a little extra incentive for the prospective buyer.

You'll find hits here, such as "Darlin'" and "Sail On Sailor," but the real value is in cuts like "Surf's Up," which many say is Brian Wilson's best songwriting effort ever, and "Disney Girls" (a personal favorite), which is one of the most beautiful songs ever.

Beginning with the lines "Clearing skies and drying eyes/Now I see your smile," this is a song of pure happiness, both past ("It's Rick and Dave... Hi Pop"),

"It'd be a peaceful life
With a forever wife
And a kid someday
It's earlier nights
And pillow fights
And your soft laugh"

It's ten years of harmony all right, but it's value is timeless. Wholeheartedly recommended.

GARLAND JEFFREYS
(Epic)

When interviewed in these pages last year, just prior to his sensational show at Canton's Center Stage, Jeffreys mentioned that a live album from the tour was a good possibility. Voila! Here it is, and it's certainly no disappointment. In fact, it's a great album in its own right, something live LP's rarely are.

Of course, The Rumor (late of Graham Parker and The...) is excellent musically, blending virtuosity with just a touch of brashness, that meshes with Jeffreys' voice, which works along the same line.

Included is Garland's worldwide hit of a few years back, "Wild In The Streets," as well as last year's "96 Tears." But it's songs you may have never heard before that are the meat of the album, tunes like "35 Millimeter Dreams" and the thirteen-minute soul-searching autobiographical masterpiece "Cool Down Boy."

What can I say except that Garland Jeffreys was hot as hell when I reviewed his performance last year, and "Rock and Roll Adult" is a faithful transcription of that show.

It's a Cheap Trick

Visitors to Second Chance in Ann Arbor some weeks ago were surprised to find none other than Cheap Trick performing under a variety of pseudonyms. No matter what the name, the group never sounded better during its two-night stint in town before packed houses. Robin Zander (above left) gives it everything he's got while Bun E. Carlos pounds the drums. Rick Nielson (photo at left) then joined Zander in Cheap Trick's special brand of harmony. Photos by Steve O'Leary.

'Christmas Carol' returns

Charles Dickens' immortal classic, "A Christmas Carol," is featured Dec. 11 thru 13 and Dec. 18 thru 20 at Wayne State University's Bonstelle Theatre with Friday and Saturday performances at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m. Additional matinees are scheduled on Dec. 10 and Dec. 16 at 2 p.m.

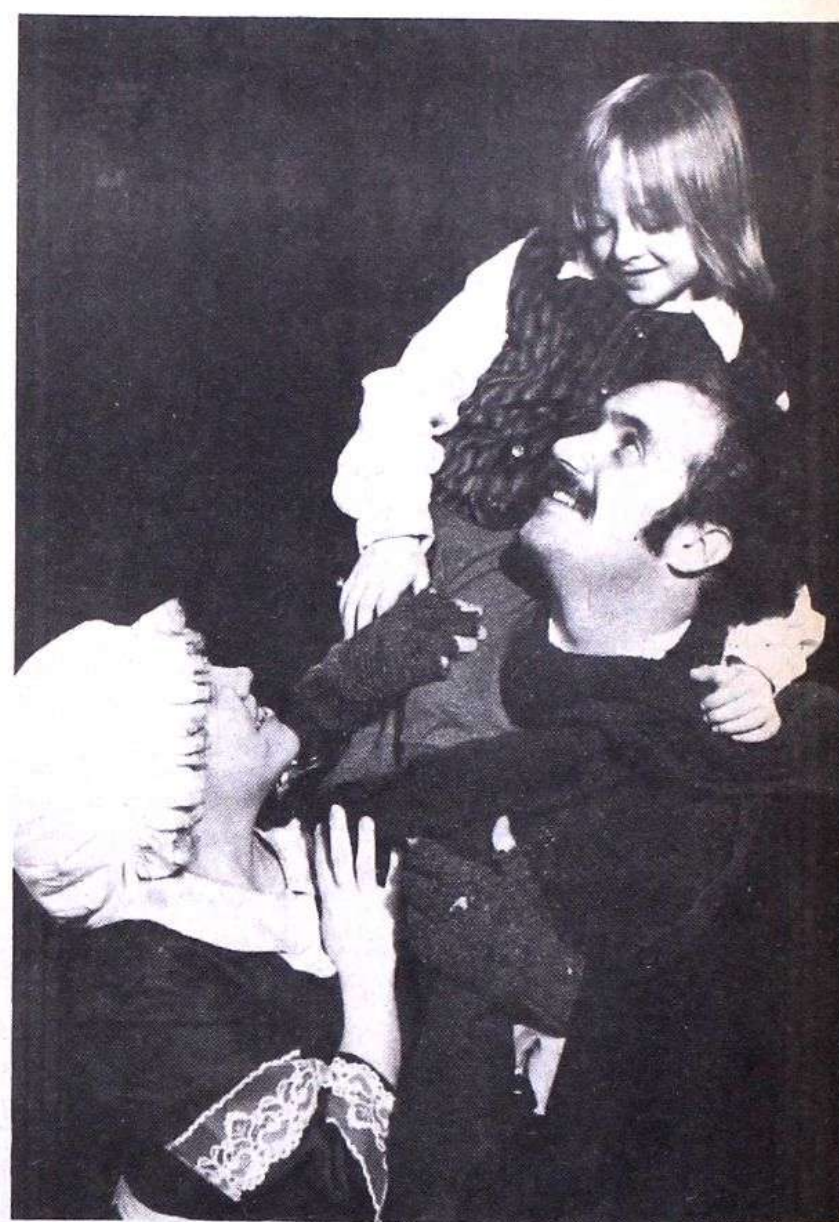

Dickens' tale, adapted for the stage by Barbara Field, deals with the miserly, cold-hearted Ebenezer Scrooge and his adamant refusal to honor the tradition of Christmas "Humbly!" shouts Scrooge, "If I had my way, every idiot who goes about with a 'Merry Christmas' on his lips should be buried with a stake of holly through his heart."

Scrooge's attitude about Christmas is challenged by the nocturnal visits of four spirits, including the ghosts of Jacob Marley, Christmas Past, Present and Future. The frightening tales told by these spirits alter Scrooge's attitude and he soon reciprocates the love of the Cratchits, relatives and townspeople, and vows to honor the spirit of Christmas.

Leading the Bonstelle cast of "A Christmas Carol" are Mark Corkins as Ebenezer Scrooge, Tom Kammer as Charles Dickens, Alan Ribant as Bob Cratchit, Peter Carman as Jacob Marley, and Grace Aiello, Bruce Mathieu and Chris Kowalski as the spirits of Christmases Past, Present and Future.

The production is directed by Anthony Schmitt, with scenic design by Stephen G. Sherwin, special effects by Blair Vaughn Anderson, choreography by Nira Pullin, lighting by Marc Riske and costumes by Elizabeth Gulick Eastman and Marilyn Renaud.

Tickets and information are available at the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Cass and Hancock, Detroit, 48202, (577-2972) and at most Detroit area colleges and universities.

Lori Johnson (left), Jim McGough and Theresa Timm rehearse their roles as the Cratchett family for the upcoming Eastern Michigan University Players' version of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." The play will be performed in EMU's Quirk Theater Dec. 11 through 13. For ticket information call 487-1221.

Dickens' classic

Tickets for the Eastern Michigan University Players' production of "A Christmas Carol" are currently on sale in the Quirk Theater Box Office.

The play will be presented this Friday and Saturday, at 8 p.m. and Dec. 13 at 7 p.m. Special matinee performances are scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The EMU production is an adaptation of Dickens' original version by Tom Haas and was first produced by the Indiana Repertory Theater in 1980. Virginia Koste, director of EMU's nationally recognized Drama for the Young Program, will direct the performance.

EMU's Box Office is open weekdays from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Tickets for the production are $4.50 for the general public, $3 for EMU students and $1.75 for children.

Ticket reservations and more information can be obtained by calling 487-1221.

Airport's electric bill-thank goodness it's not yours

If you think your electric bill is steep lately, consider the sky-high, budget busting bills being generated at Detroit Metropolitan Airport...something over $200,000 a month!

Metro Airport, operated by the Wayne County Road Commission on a 24-hour, 7-day, 52-week-a-year basis safely served over 10 million passengers alone last year in well-lighted terminals and parking areas.

To accomplish this requires two separately maintained power sources plus a backup emergency diesel powered system for Metro's air traffic control tower personnel and the thousands of runway and taxiway lights at Metro, one of the busiest and safest airports in the nation.

Metro's electrical bill, currently budgeted at $2.6 million, is more than it costs for either airport security or janitorial service, and an item that has definitely caught the three-member road commission's attention.

"Quite obviously, we must provide electrical power to maintain our high safety record but this cost, despite our attempts to hold down all costs continues to grow," noted Board Chairman Michael Berry.

His fellow commissioners, Mrs. Grace R. Hampton and Claude Dukes agreed that perhaps "other means" should be pursued or alternate methods explored to determine the feasibility of providing electrical power at the airport.

"There might be no cheaper method — then again, perhaps we could install our own power generating plant — using less costly fossil fuels or solar energy. This we should determine and soon," Berry said, with the concurrence of his fellow commissioners.

As the longest serving member of the Board

(since 1967), Berry explained that the board had previously ordered an on-going energy management study following the national fuel crisis in the mid-seventies.

"I'm aware of a number of cost-cutting, energy-saving measures already in effect at the airport, such measures as lower wattage yet higher density lighting in the parking decks which have reduced our electrical usage without affecting the safety of the people using Metro Airport," he said.

The Board also noted that while short-range savings are desirous, it is also concerned with the energy needs of future airport development in the staff report.

"Dealing with Your New Identity" will be the topic when the YWCA Support Group for Divorced Women meets on Tuesday, December 15, 1981 from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall, Southminster Presbyterian Church, 21845 Wick Road, Taylor.

Barbara Schnarr of Livonia, a consultant for Detroit schools, will lead the discussion. She will cover such subjects as making a conscious effort to rehearse your new role after divorce ("I" rather than "we") and developing an awareness of self.

The YWCA Support Group for Divorced Women meets semi-monthly in the church on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. This support group serves as a vital support system for any woman who is separated, divorced, contemplating divorce or in the process of divorce.

Van Buren is radio feature

The enlightened attitude toward the arts as demonstrated by the far-reaching programs of Van Buren Township's Community Arts Council will be saluted over the air during this week by Timeless FM-105.

The salutes will take the form of 32 announcements broadcast throughout the day during WQRS' classical music programming.

The announcements will state the Van Buren Township's Community Arts Council has earned "A Special Place in Time" because of their activities.

"Special Place in Time" salutes are the result of a survey taken of the cultural assets of southeastern Michigan by Timeless FM-105.

Almost five hundred separate musical, dramatic, dance, painting and other "artistic" endeavors have been identified.

As many groups, and individuals within the groups, will be given "Special Place in Time" recognition over WQRS-FM, Detroit.

Saw for a good cause

When Boy Scout Troop 231 held its benefit raffle last week, Glenn McMillan (center) emerged as the winner and was presented with a motor saw by Bill Riggs, Scout Master 231 (at left) and Dave Hamilton, manager of the Hamilton Hardware Store. The benefit was staged to raise funds for the Boy Scouts' camping fund, and by the smiles on the participants faces, it appears that everyone was happy with the outcome of the raffle.

Oakwood Hospital to dedicate East Addition on Dec. 17

The dedication of the $8.5 million East Addition to Oakwood Hospital will be held Thursday afternoon, Dec. 17, bringing to a climax more than two years of construction on the four-level structure.

A reception and tour will follow the dedication. The following day, Friday, Dec. 18, open houses will be held for both hospital employees and the public. The open houses for the public will be held from 2-4 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

With the East Addition, Oakwood will serve as the regional center for Downriver communities in western Wayne County to care for high-risk mothers and infants.

The Maternal and Child Health Care Center, which will occupy more than 22,000 square feet, is located on the third floor of the East Addition. It consists of labor and delivery rooms, post-partum beds, intermediate care and general nurseries, examination rooms, an area for testing outpatient obstetrical patients and other related facilities.

A new service, a 20-bed neonatal intensive care unit, will be an integral part of the center in treating critically ill infants requiring prolonged, specialized hospitalization. With the new unit, Oakwood has a total of 615 beds.

In accordance with both the long-range goals of the hospital and directives of regional and state health agencies, Oakwood's obstetrical and newborn program will provide comprehensive services on a coordinated basis in the Downriver area to reduce the incidence of infant mortality as well as of mental retardation and other disabilities.

Oakwood ranks third in deliveries in the state with around 4,200 births a year. It also has an occupancy rate in its obstetric unit of more than 95 percent.

Other major East Addition components include a consolidated Physical Medicine and Rehabilitative Services Department, a new main entrance to the hospital, and the relocation and expansion of several hospital departments.

Occupational Therapy, Speech Pathology and Physical Therapy will be consolidated into Physical Medicine and Rehabilitative Services on the second floor. This will result in improvements in the examination and treatment of patients receiving these services.

Previously, those departments were situated through the hospital and were not easily accessible to Oakwood's increasing outpatient population.

Patients 65 years of age and older who require rehabilitative therapy after surgery or suffer from a stroke and other debilitating diseases are primary users of Oakwood's physical medicine services.

The construction of the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitative Services Department was made possible, in part, by a $750,000 grant from The Ford Motor Company Fund and gifts through the Oakwood Hospital Foundation.

The hospital's main entrance, with a new consolidated patient information and registration area, will be relocated from the north side as part of the East Addition. This area will also be the site for the Admitting offices, a new Gift Shop, physicians' lounge, and relocated Medical Records Department and Utilization Review office.

Meanwhile, the Nuclear Medicine Department will move into larger quarters on the ground floor. The Purchasing and Housekeeping departments will also be enlarged and Maintenance will receive additional facilities to house mechanical equipment.

As these departments move into the East Addition, other units will be affected. As a result, expanded space will be provided for the Medical Library, Administration, Dietary, Pharmacy, Finance and Laboratory.

Plans call for Finance to occupy space vacated by Admitting; Housekeeping and Maintenance to occupy space vacated by Nuclear Medicine; Nursing administration and Laboratory to occupy space vacated by Physical Therapy; and new post-partum beds to occupy space vacated by Occupational Therapy and the continued care dining area.

The program for the vacated sixth floor Labor and Delivery area is not yet completed.

The East Addition construction, with groundbreaking taking place on Nov. 12, 1979, followed on the heels of a two-year, $8 million program for a new Surgery Center, Central Sterile Supply Department, Outpatient Center, a 10-story elevator tower and an expanded Emergency Department.

Since its opening in January 1953 as a six-story, 213-bed facility, Oakwood has continuously grown in size and services. By 1963, four more stories were added and the bed size increased to 474.

The Skillman Wing was built in 1972 and a fourth floor was added to the wing in 1976, bringing the bed count to 595.

Construction has also occurred outside the Dearborn area. The Family Medical Center in Sumpter Township, south of Belleville, opened in 1972, while the Oakwood Hospital Canton Center opened this October. A primary care medical facility in Brownstown Township is scheduled to open next January.

Doctor on call

Drinking and driving

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Ernest Sorini is chief of Emergency Room Services at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. He served his internship and residency at the University of Utah Medical Center and has been in emergency medicine for five years. If you have health questions for Dr. Sorini, contact him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184.

By Dr. Ernest Sorini

Picture this: You're driving down the freeway, and suddenly a voice emerges from the ashtray and proclaims imperatively, "Your oil pressure is low. Please stop at the nearest service island." So you (obedient, reasonable, and chicken driver that you are), in an effort to comply, head straight for the nearest gas station.

When your car has come to a stop, the benevolent voice returns from the ashes to offer a helpful reminder: "Don't forget to take your keys; don't leave the door ajar; don't slam your fingers in the door; don't slip on the pavement and break your arm; and don't stop at this place, because it's a Dairy Queen, and they don't sell oil here!"

The automakers may be a little behind schedule in relation to the scenario depicted above, but there are automobiles on the market which come equipped with "canned" human voices, proclaiming in tones which vary from authoritative to provocative any of a number of reminders to the unwary or inattentive driver.

I hope future generations of automobiles will come equipped with messages contained in the following scene: You've just left a Friday afternoon "happy hour," and you get into the new car that you've saved for ten years to buy. You're a little "tipsy," but you certainly don't consider yourself bombed, incapacitated, or otherwise "impaired." You get into your fancy new set of wheels, put the key in the ignition, and suddenly you hear: "Computerized sampling of driver's exhaled gases correlates with a blood alcohol level of 50 milligrams percent. This is considered impaired in Michigan, and any attempt to start this automobile will be met with loud canned laughter and other guffaws. Please reconsider your intended action and call a taxi."

More than 100,000 people die in traffic accidents in the United States every year, and an additional 500,000 are injured. Of these, more than 50 percent involve the use of alcohol. Remember, if you are an average sized person, if you drink more than one mixed drink per hour, you will within two hours have attained a blood alcohol level greater than 50 milligrams percent.

Cancer Society to develop area unit

The American Cancer Society is developing the Central Wayne Unit to serve the communities of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, and Garden City at the local level.

Interested residents are needed to attend the Unit's first organizational meeting December 15, 7 p.m. at the Baily Community Center, 36651 Ford Road, Westland.

For further information please call the American Cancer Society's Metropolitan Detroit area office, 557-5353.

Remember, there are lots of cabbies out of work, who appreciate being called to drive you home, and even rely on the "generosity of intoxication" to help them buy Christmas gifts for their kids. So if you're going to drink, don't drive, because canned laughter is the least that might happen to you, if you do.

Cut your tax bill

Gift-giving helps detour tax man

Annual gifts can provide for the future of your spouse, children or heirs. Gift-giving can also be a way to transfer wealth and reduce taxes. Whatever your reason, whether you plan to give regularly or occasionally, you should know the tax regulations governing gifts.

Although 1981 rules are unchanged by the new tax law, changes will occur in 1982. Familiarize yourself with the present standards and next year's changes to take advantage of gift exemptions.

The current limit for annual tax-free gifts is $3,000. In addition, each person has an exemption for $175,625 which can be used over the course of his or her life, or to offset estate taxes. The limits represent the amount of the gift that is tax-exempt. For example, if you give your child $5,000 in 1981, only $3,000 of the gift falls under the annual gift tax exclusion. The other $2,000 can be deducted from your lifetime exemption which then leaves you $173,625 to distribute, plus your annual gifts.

Gifts above these amounts are taxed at the gift rate which can run as high as 70 percent. Beginning January 1, 1982, this rate will be 50 percent.

Remember, the gift exclusion is figured per individual. If you and your spouse agree, you can double your gift to any recipient. For 1981, your allowed exclusion actually totals $6,000 per recipient.

How much impact does the exclusion for a gift really have? A lot depends on your income and your tax bracket. If you and your spouse have one child and a combined income of $50,000, without any deductions, you are in the 49% tax bracket. If you save $6,000 for your child (the maximum gift allowable) and invest this at 12% interest compounded annually, you will have $4,800 in interest, or approximately $10,800 at the end of 10 years, after taxes.

If the point of your giving is not to reduce your taxes, but to provide for your children or heirs, you also benefit by giving an annual gift. The gift tax is made not on the property, but on the transfer of the property, whether it be cash, stocks or bonds.

While the worth of the gift need not be reported for income tax purposes, any income produced from the gift is taxable. Even so, because of the recipient's low income, he or she will not have a high tax bill to pay. Additionally, no taxes will apply until interest income exceeds one thousand dollars.

Depending on the size of the gift and the accumulation of the fund, you may or may not benefit by opening an account in trust for the recipient. There are different kinds of trusts and varying degrees of control which the giver exerts over the fund.

With most trust funds, the recipient can gain control at age 18 or 21. To qualify for the exemption neither the principal nor the interest should be used to pay for ordinary parental obligations, such as food, clothing or shelter. he money can, however, be used to advance the education of the child. Under the new law, gifts for school or health care do not decrease either the annual gift limit or the lifetime limit.

Most trusts accept stocks, bonds, securities and life insurance annuities as contributions. In some states, however, acceptable contributions vary.

In addition, the gift or transfer of stock is not taxable until the stock is sold. Dividends, except for the $100 tax exclusion, are taxable; but, once again, the recipient will probably pay a lower tax on the income than the giver. When the stock is sold, the capital gains are taxed at the recipient's tax rate unless the stock is sold within two years after being given to the trust. In such cases, the donor's rate applies.

In 1982, gift tax allowances will increase. After January, the annual gift tax exemption applies to gifts of up to $10,000 per spouse, while the lifetime allowance increases to $250,000. That amount continues to increase until it reaches $600,000 in 1987.

When giving gifts, keep in mind not only your estate and tax planning, but also your present finances. Gifts should not leave you financially strapped.

Kelsey Hayes fills sales manager post

James L. Mellow has been named Sales Manager - Distribution for the Kelsey Products Division of Kelsey-Hayes Company (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Detroit-based Fruehauf Corporation), announced Kelsey Products Division General Manager Michael C. McGrath.

Mellow joins Kelsey Products Division from his post as vice president of marketing for the Brake & Friction Division of Nuturn Corporation. Prior to that, he served as a sales representative for the AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors Corporation.

A 1964 graduate of General Motors Institute (Flint), Mellow holds an MBA in marketing from Western Michigan University (Kalamazoo).

As a subsidiary of Fruehauf Corporation, Kelsey-Hayes Company is a major manufacturer of wheels, brakes, and other automotive components.

Kelsey-Hayes also manufactures component parts for use in the industrial equipment, aerospace and agricultural and recreational vehicle industries. The Kelsey Products Division supplies aftermarket parts for the automotive industry.

SBA flood disaster loan deadline nears

The Small Business Administration has announced, as a reminder, the closing date of January 4, 1982, for acceptance of Physical Disaster Loan Applications from homeowners, renters and businesses in Genesee and Oakland and adjacent counties that suffered property damage due to flooding which occurred on September 30 and October 1, 1981.

Under the S.B.A. Disaster Program, persons who own or rent homes or businesses that were damaged or destroyed as a direct result of the disaster, and persons who suffered personal property losses may apply for direct low interest loans to restore their properties to pre-disaster condition.

Businesses that have suffered economic injury resulting from the disaster have until August 3, 1982 to document their need for an Economic Injury Disaster Loan.

Proceeds from these loans may be used for working capital and to meet obligations the disaster prevented them from meeting.

Applications may be obtained by calling S.B.A.'s Detroit office at (313) 226-2534 or (313) 226-2535. The office address for those who wish to write or stop in person is: Room 515 Patrick V. McNamara Building, 477 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Hired farm worker survey set

Information about farm work done for pay during the past year and about migratory farm work will be collected by the Bureau of the Census in this area during the work week of December 14-18. Robert G. McWilliam, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit, has announced.

The farm work questions are in addition to the ones asked regularly in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of this survey provide data on conditions in the labor force, prime indicators of the economic health of the country. For example, in October the survey indicated that of the 106.7 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 98.2 million were employed.

The nation's unemployment rate was 8.0 percent, up from 7.5 percent in September and the 1981 low of 7.0 percent in July.

About 71,000 households across the country, scientifically selected to represent a cross section of American households, take part in this monthly survey. All information provided the Bureau is confidential by law and can be published only as statistical totals in which no individual or household can be identified.

CITY OF ROMULUS WARNING TO THE RESIDENTS OF ROMULUS:

In order to be fair to those persons seeking employment who have or expect to respond to the recent advertisement run by DetRo Recovery Products for employment, please be advised that this is not a city sponsored or approved project. In fact, because of serious health and environmental concerns, the city has refused to issue approval for either of the two sites that have thus far been proposed.

Last week the Romulus City Council authorized an appeal from an adverse court ruling indicating its continued opposition to this project and its firm resolve to persist in its disapproval of DetRo's proposed sludge composting facility until those health and environmental questions are adequately responded to. For these reasons the city government has expressed a firm moral commitment to oppose this potentially dangerous project even if this means that the parties must struggle through a lengthy appeal process in order to get those questions answered.

Common sense precautions brighten holiday shopping

Christmas shoppers, often welcome prey for pick-pockets and purse-snatchers, should take common sense precautions for a safe holiday season, advises a security expert.

"Common sense is your best weapon in protecting yourself and your belongings," says Peter Williams, security manager for a national food store chain.

"Begin your safety planning before you leave for your shopping trip," Williams advises. "Leave on some house lights and your television or radio, and turn down your phone bell so people outside won't notice you're not home."

Williams offers the following safety advice to shoppers:

- Carry as little cash as possible. Credit cards can be replaced. And, checks can be stopped, but you'll never be able to retrieve cash lost.

- Carry credit cards, cash and keys in separate areas. Women should never keep keys in their purses. Keys found inside a stolen purse will gain the thief access to your home and car.

- Women should put their billfolds at the bottom of their purses. If a thief grabs inside your purse, it's better he find a comb or other object on top. Pick-pockets work quickly. Any delay may turn them away.

- When in elevators or other crowded places, keep a hand on your purse or wallet.

And, if you're jostled anywhere, be sure to protect your purse or wallet.

- Travel with a companion whenever possible, even in daylight. It helps to have a second pair of alert eyes with you.

Williams offers the following safety precautions to shoppers traveling by car:

- Select a well-lighted parking area for your car if you'll be returning after dark.

- Have your key in hand when returning to the car. Fumbling in your pocket or purse gives a potential attacker the opportunity to approach you without warning.

- Look in the car to be certain there's no one inside before entering it.

- While driving, keep all doors locked and windows rolled up. If anyone approaches the car, step on the gas and drive away. If you can't move, blow the horn repeatedly in short bursts.

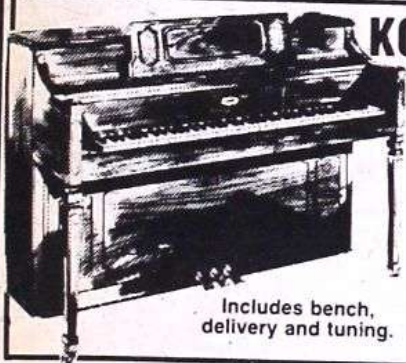

Williams suggests you have the "made-in-advance" decision to give up your purse or possessions if confronted.

"An 'amateur' robber usually is unsure of what to do once he or she has the money," Williams explains. "It is critical that you quickly obey the robber's commands and keep the transaction short and smooth."

If he or she has a weapon, don't look at it, Williams adds. Instead, make a mental portrait of the robber, looking for any outstanding characteristics.

Once he or she is out of sight, then call police, he says.

Master carver provides cooking tips

Carving the turkey need not be the ruin of your holiday meal celebration, according to Chef Hans Aeschbacher of Lawry's The Prime Rib restaurant in Chicago.

"Whether you serve turkey or prime rib," says Chef Hans, "if you prepare the meat properly and use a few easy-to-learn carving tips, your holiday meal will be the celebration it is meant to be."

Trained at Gewerbeschule, a gourmet cooking institute in Biel, Switzerland, Chef Hans has become a master carver. In addition to his duties as chef, he currently teaches cooking and carving classes at Lawry's The Prime Rib, where roast prime ribs of beef have been carved tableside from rolling carts for more than seven years in Chicago and for 43 years in Beverly Hills, California.

Before you begin carving, Chef Hans offers these tips on preparation — tips which will make the actual carving easier:

- Fresh turkeys are best, but frozen ones are easier to find. Defrost the turkey in the refrigerator for two days. Season with butter, seasoned salt and pepper and baste with pan juices during roasting. Should the turkey brown too quickly, cover with a foil tent.

- A 15-pound turkey should cook $4\frac{1}{2}$ hours at 325 degrees F. Overcooked turkeys are nearly impossible to carve, so check yours by lifting up from under the wing — if the juices run clear, it's done.

- Cooked turkeys should stand five to 15 minutes before carving to give the juices time to settle and cool.

- You'll need a broadblade knife to cut the meat, a boning knife to cut through hard joints, and a long meat fork. Each tool must be sharp.

Now you're ready to begin the actual carving:

First, remove the drumstick and thigh by cutting straight down between the thigh and body (photo #1). Push the leg outward, and use the boning knife to cut the exposed joint between the thigh and backbone.

Second, slice the breast meat with long, smooth strokes. "Don't saw the meat," says Chef Hans. "You should carve as if you are playing the violin" (photo #2). A horizontal cut deep into the breast helps release slices at the base.

Remove the wing by pressing down on the wing tip, and then using the boning knife to sever the exposed joint by cutting toward the backbone. Wings can be saved for stockpot or soup, or divided for serving.

Next, slice the dark meat by first cutting the joint which connects the drumstick and thigh. Holding the drumstick with a napkin, tilt slightly and slice down toward the plate all around the leg. Use the meat fork to hold the thigh firmly on the plate and slice the meat parallel to the bone.

If you are a slow carver, Lawry's master carver recommends placing the sliced meat on a warming tray and covering it with a warm towel. This will keep the meat warm and moist until you're ready to serve.

For prime ribs of beef, Chef Hans suggests cooking the roast 20-25 minutes per pound at 350 degrees F. or until a meat thermometer reaches 140. Like turkey, the cooked roast should stand five to 15 minutes before carving.

To make carving easier, first remove the rib bones. Stand the roast with the ribs pointing up and carve between the bones and meat, separating the rib bones in a strip (photo #3).

Now place the roast on the side from which the ribs have been removed and slice (photo #4). "Remember," says Hans, "the wrist guides the blade, but the knife does the work."

"If you follow these techniques," says Chef Hans, "your holiday meal will be a pleasure — not a chore."

Christmas card remains instrument of love and joy

More than three billion Christmas cards are expected to be exchanged during the upcoming holiday season, linking the hearts and minds of countless individuals around the globe.

In our modern era of satellite communication and shuttle diplomacy, the Christmas card may be the most effective instrument of love, joy, peace and goodwill among men in the world today.

The exchange of cards is an old custom. However, it is not as old as one might think, and it was not immediately accepted.

The custom originated in England shortly after the season had become even more festive with the introduction of the Christmas tree, an innovation attributed to the Prince Consort. At the same time, the "jolly" writings of Dickens were said to have "increased the genuine feeling of the season."

According to the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers, the "invention" is credited to Sir Henry Cole who commissioned John Calcott Horsley, A.A., painter and illustrator, to design the quaint greetings. The card would be considered a postcard today, with small panels to the left and right depicting the charitable acts of "clothing the poor" and "feeding the hungry."

The central illustration featured a family looking out of the card as if they were toasting its recipient.

Members of the temperance cause focused on this illustration and poor Cole was greatly criticized for tempting drink.

Despite the greeting's initial cool welcome, it persisted both as a work of art and instrument of cheer, buoying the spirits of every age and class in England by the 1860's.

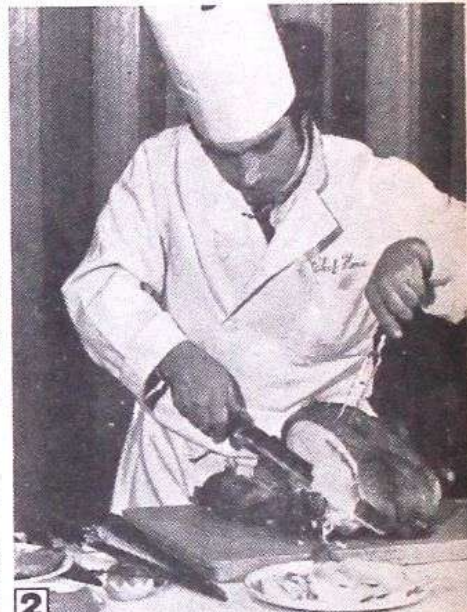

Today, of course, Christmas greetings lighten spirits around the globe, carrying its message of the season to millions via the most effective communication level known to man: you and me.

1 TO REMOVE the drumstick, cut straight down between the thigh and body with a sharp carving knife. Use a boning knife to cut the joint.

3 PRIME RIB IS EASIER to carve if you first remove the bones. Stand the roast up and carve between the bones and meat, separating the ribs in a strip.

2 SLICE THE BREAST MEAT using long, smooth strokes. "Don't saw the meat," says Lawry's Chef Hans, "carve it, as if you're playing a violin."

4 PLACE THE PRIME RIB on the side from which the ribs have been removed and slice gently. Says Chef Hans, "The wrist guides the blade but the knife does the work."

Farms offer varieties

Search for 'perfect tree' begins again

Searching for that "perfect tree" on a frosty day at one of the state's cut-your-own Christmas tree farms is a family tradition shared by thousands of Michiganders each holiday season, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"That annual trip to the country and wagon ride through fields of perfectly shaped evergreens is the way many families kick off the holidays," stated James Drury, Auto Club Travel Operations manager.

Families visiting one of the 63 choose-and-cut tree farms on Auto Club's 1981 guide will find nearly 500,000 trees in almost 20 varieties.

"Many growers have trees at prices unchanged or only slightly above last season," Drury said.

Tree prices start at $3 for Scotch pines, unchanged from last Christmas. Seven farms also sell by the foot, ranging from $1 to $3 depending on tree type, also unchanged from a year ago. More expensive trees such as Douglas firs and blue spruces, cost an average $5 more than last year and sell for up to $35.

Sizes vary from pre-decorated table-top models for apartments or mobile homes to Japanese, Austrian or French pines large enough for any corner or picture window. In addition, 38 farms list trees up to 25 feet tall.

"Nine farms sell hot cider and donuts or cookies, and many have farm animals for children to feed and pet," Drury said.

At farms near Grass Lake, Dryden, Montrose, Otisville and Sturgis, Santa Claus greets youngsters on certain weekends.

Free potted blue spruce seedlings await young visitors at Arend Tree Farms near Chelsea and Brooklyn. An old-time country store and kitchen will delight both young and old visitors to Ruby Tree farm near Goddells.

"Ismond Tree Farm near Otsego even has its own groomed cross-country ski trails, and visitors at Asplin Farms near Lennon can listen to a live country music radio show on weekends," Drury said.

To make tree-searching easier, cut-it-yourselfers can reserve trees at 22 farms. Nearly half of the farms will wrap trees with twine so branches will not break during transport. Eleven operations will clean trees by machine.

Auto Club offers these tips for those visiting choose-and-cut farms:

- If going on a weekend, bring a hand saw. Most farms lend them but they could be in use. Axes are banned.

- Most pines and Douglas firs hold needles well, but balsams and spruces shed quickly if not properly cared for.

- After making a choice, saw the tree close to the ground.

- Although most farms have twine to tie trees to cars, bring some just in case. Be sure to tie the base facing forward.

After the tree is brought home, Auto Club suggests storing it in a bucket of water.

Before trimming, diagonally cut one or two inches off the base to help it absorb water. Avoid placing it near heating ducts or open flames. Always check lights for bare wires, make sure electrical outlets won't be overloaded and fill the stand with water daily.

Here's healthy gift for smokers

The American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan, The Christmas Seal People, is offering a few suggestions for gift-giving and stocking-stuffing this Christmas that are unique and say "I really care."

For those smokers on your Christmas list, the American Lung Association suggests giving copies of "Freedom From Smoking," to self-help workbooks which include day-to-day activities to guide smokers through a 20-day withdrawal period to complete cessation.

"Freedom From Smoking in 20 Days" shows smokers how to quit and the second manual, "A Lifetime of Freedom From Smoking," helps the ex-smoker maintain the non-smoking habit for life. The program is available for a $5 donation and may be ordered by calling the Lung Association's "Smoking Phone" at 963-3029.

The Lung Association also has several stocking stuffer ideas for smokers and non-smokers alike. Copies of the Lung Association's Brooke Shields smoking poster are available for a $2 donation at all Harmony House Record and Tape stores, Gregory, Mayer and Thom Office Supply Stores and Bonanza restaurants in the tri-county.

A gift of a ticket to the Lung Association's third annual "Great New Year's Cigarette Send-Off" in January is another way to show a loved one you care. Non-smoking signs, stickers, pins, bookmarks, and coloring books are free while supplies last.

The Lung Association suggests placing orders as soon as possible for any of the items mentioned above to allow plenty of time for your gift to arrive. For more information on how to kick the cigarette habit or on any of the Christmas gift suggestions, call the "Smoking Phone" at 963-3029.

Cleaning hints to avoid those lasting impressions

Having a holiday party? If you want to avoid lasting reminders of your party, instead of doing the dishes take this time to inspect your furniture and carpet.

It's not inevitable, but spills do happen during a party, and the faster they're dealt with, the less risk there is of any permanent damage.

Start by making sure that all your wood surfaces are dry. Even if you've used protective coverings, moisture can get trapped under them.

Once that is done inspect your upholstered furniture and your carpet. The chances are your carpet will take the brunt of any spills.

To help eliminate or minimize permanent damage it helps if you are prepared with a few basic cleaning aids, and most of what you need is probably on your kitchen shelf already.

white vinegar, a mild detergent and a container of dry cleaning solvent. Never use lighter fluid.

Wine, coffee, tea, mustard and soft drinks are among the foods that can react with the dye in your rug and cause permanent discoloration, so start with these spills, by sponging them with detergent whipped into a foam with club soda.

If the spot doesn't respond to detergent, try a solution of one part wine vinegar mixed with two parts warm water.

If food containing butter, cooking oil or any grease has reached your carpet, remove as much as you can with a dull knife or spoon. Then, with a soft, unstarched cloth, apply dry cleaning solvent.

When spot-cleaning, these few tips are also important.

• Always try any solution, even plain water, on a hidden part of the carpet first to make sure the fibers are color-fast.

• Work from the outside to the inside of the spotted area so the spot does not spread.

• Blot as you go along. Try to keep the base of your carpet as dry as possible.

• Dried detergent can become a future dirt collector so make sure that this too is sponged up.

• Once the spot is cleaned and the area as dry as possible, cover the area with a dozen sheets of paper towel and weight with a few heavy books. You'll be surprised at how much moisture still remains.

• Have patience. Give the cleaning agent time to work. You may have to clean and blot three or four times before you see an improvement.

• If you still see signs of the night before, have your rug professionally cleaned as soon as possible.

After the party take care of those spots on your rug before they have a chance to set permanently. Then, use rug and room deodorizer when you vacuum and your room will smell as fresh and clean as it did before the party.

Tabletop Christmas Trees are easy to make. Take a hand towel and fold into a V-shape. Stop there if you wish to keep the towel intact. If you'd like to make a more permanent tree, though, just cut away the excess, roll the edges under, and hem. Take a branch from a real or artificial tree to make the center-piece. Prop it in the florist's clay, and dress with berries and a sprightly yarn bow. Mopping up after dinner will be easy with the towel-napkins.

Gifts come from heart

Not all Christmas gifts cost money. Many of us feel a financial squeeze this time of year — we want to give special gifts to those special people, but often we just don't have the money.

But, there are many gifts which are sure to be appreciated for their uniqueness and personal touch, but which costs little or nothing in monetary terms.

Offer some cooking lessons and a notebook of your favorite recipes.

If you know someone who keeps their checkbook in a state of precarious disorder, offer to balance it for them.

Or, volunteer a few hours of typing to that college student on your list.

If you're handy around the house, offer your services as a carpenter. After all, everybody needs something done around the house or apartment.

Youngsters could volunteer to do the dishes for a month or clean out the basement.

Put an end to Silent Nights.

Here's good news for new pumpkin pie makers

Tantalizing home-baked desserts add a special "I care" flavor to holiday get-togethers. Yet, for the first time pie maker the holiday season can add an extra case of the jitters.

Many doubts and fears come to mind as you recall some of the horror stories you've heard.

Will my crust be flaky? How long do I bake a pumpkin pie? How do I spice it?

To ease your nerves and make your pumpkin pie a smashing hit for a family holiday feast or as a gift for a friend, here is a fool-proof recipe for perfectly mouth-watering results every time.

It's a variation of Libby's Famous Pumpkin Pie recipe which features delectable taste. It's extra easy to prepare with a no-roll pastry crust and one-bowl pumpkin filling.

The spoon-on garnish of whipped topping with a holiday touch of orange liqueur or brandy, if you so choose, can be an elegant special touch complementing the pumpkin which is rich in Vitamin A, plus lesser amounts of iron, Vitamin C and other nutrients.

This holiday home-baked pumpkin pie for enjoying at home or giving as a gift to a friend is especially prized at holiday time and bound to bring you pleasure and praises!

FIRST TIME EASY PUMPKIN PIE

½ of one 11 oz. package pie crust mix
3 to 4 tablespoons cold water
1 can (16-oz.) Libby's Solid Pack Pumpkin
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1½ teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
1 can (13 oz.) evaporated milk (1½ cups)
Spirited Whipped Topping (optional)
Preheat oven to 425° F.
Prepare pie crust mix with water according to package directions for no-roll crust.

Pat into bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan.

In bowl, combine pumpkin, sugar, eggs and spice; stir in milk.

Pour into pie crust. Bake 15 minutes.

Reduce oven temperature to 350° F; bake an additional 45 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean.

Just before serving garnish with Spirited Whipped Topping.

Yields about 8 servings.

Spirited Whipped Topping

Combine 1 container (4½ oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed, with 2 to 3 tablespoons orange flavored liqueur or brandy.

This first time easy Libby's Pumpkin Pie is the first time pie maker's answer for a holiday dessert. It's the fool-proof way to serve or give "I care" flavor at holiday get-togethers with family and friends.

Watches are timely gifts

Christmas is in the air and families will soon be getting together to observe customs that originated in faraway places.

From Scandinavia, came the burning of the yule log to commemorate the onset of winter; carols which began as dances accompanied by song were introduced in Italy; and the beloved image of Santa Claus was brought from England in honor of Old St. Nicholas, a 4th century bishop.

spread of the holiday customs is the exchanging of gifts with friends and relatives. Among the timeliest of presents are watches.

There's a multitude of styles and shapes to choose from. Some circle the wrist with bangles, expansion bands, or all-in-one bracelets, while others feature sporty leather straps. Distinctive dials display Roman or Arabic numerals, simple stick markers, or digital read-outs.

Mechanisms range from the manually-wound mechanical and no-wind automatic, to the battery-powered electric, quartz and digital. Also available are day/date and calendar windows, sweep-second hands, and luminous hands and markers.

Pocket watches, with unadorned open faces or embossed cases make especially versatile mementos. The women in your life will love wearing one on a chain.

Your shopping days are numbered. Make it easy on yourself by choosing a streamlined, simple-to-operate digital for him and for her. Just a touch of the front bar and the watch is set.

Christmas tree tradition grew slowly in America

By INK MENDELSON
Smithsonian News Service

"Bah! Humbug!" you may say. But believe it or not, there really is something in America this inflation-ridden Christmas season that costs less than it did 150 years ago.

In 1830, an advertisement in the York, Pa., Republican notified the public: "Tickets will be sold for 6¼ cents, which will admit the bearers to the 'Christmas Tree' during the time it remains for exhibition."

Today, as any mother's child knows, it costs not a penny to see delightfully decorated Christmas trees during the holiday season everywhere in the land. As late as 1840, however, the Christmas tree was still such a curiosity in America that people were willing to pay for the privilege of seeing one.

At least, entrepreneurs like Mr. Goodridge of York, Pa., hoped they were. He advertised: "Christmas Trees. For the amusement of the ladies and gentlemen of York and its vicinity, GOODRIDGE, will exhibit at his residence, in East Philadelphia Street, a CHRISTMAS TREE, the exhibition of which will commence on Christmas Eve, and continue, Sunday excepted, until New Year. Tickets to be had at his store."

No tickets will be required for the Smithsonian Institution's annual "Trees of Christmas" exhibit at the National Museum of American History in Washington, D.C. These twelve trees, decorated with thousands of handmade ornaments by the Smithsonian's Office of Horticulture and 400 volunteers, can be seen absolutely free, until just after New Year's Day.

A familiar sight today, the Christmas tree grew slowly in America. In Massachusetts, the Puritans outlawed the celebration of Christmas for much of the 17th century. Banned in Boston, the Christmas tree first took root in Pennsylvania, transplanted by German immigrants to "Penn's Woodland" in the 18th century.

The Pennsylvania "Dutch" (anglicized for "Deutsch," meaning German) tree was a small juniper lighted with tiny tapered candles and decorated with apples, nuts, strings of popcorn and cranberries and, most important of all, cookies.

These were no ordinary cookies. They were works of art. In fact, a few of these elaborately decorated cookie ornaments actually survived hungry children and can be seen today in American museums.

Pennsylvania Dutch women cherished their cookie cutters and tried to save at least one design that was theirs alone, resulting in the creation of a dazzling variety of styles and shapes. When that new American character, Uncle Sam, came along in the 19th century, he too, became a cookie.

With his arrival in the Pennsylvania Dutch country, it was evident that the rest of America had reached these isolated farm people. In turn, their Christmas customs began to spread beyond the countryside to Philadelphia and on to the rest of America. In 1825, Philadelphia's Saturday Evening Post reported seeing "trees visible through the windows, where green boughs are laden with fruit richer than the golden apples of the Hesperides, or the sparkling diamonds that clustered on the branches in the wonderful cave of Aladdin."

A best-selling children's book, "Kriss Kringle's Christmas Tree," published in Philadelphia in 1845, introduced a Santa Claus figure and his Christmas tree to tots across the land.

German immigrants and influences carried the Christmas tree north, south, west, and east, even, horrors, to Boston. In a widely read penny pamphlet, anti-slavery champion Harriet Martineau described the tree that Charles Follen, a Harvard professor of German, had decorated for his son in 1832.

She concluded with a prediction that might have shocked the Puritans, "I have little doubt the Christmas-tree will become one of the most flourishing exotics of New England."

To the south, in Vicksburg, Miss., a niece of Jefferson Davis, Mahala Eggleston Roac, in 1851 created a tree for her children from her imagination. "... I never saw one," she wrote, "but learned from some of the German stories I had been reading."

Botanist William Brewer reported from California in 1862 that in San Francisco, despite the unfortunate lack of Christmas snow, "Christmas trees are the fashion." From its first planting, in a Pennsylvania community fertile with tradition, the Christmas tree had spread its branches from coast to coast.

Two popular magazines, Harper's Weekly and Godey's Lady's Book, gave the Christmas tree a further boost. The December 1850 cover of The Lady's Book was an Americanized version of a picture from the Illustrated London News of Queen Victoria, Prince Albert and the royal family around their Christmas tree at Windsor Castle.

Mrs. Hale, the editor, had removed both the queen's coronet and the prince's royal insignia and sash. Mysteriously, she also had removed his moustache. Nonetheless, the little Christmas tree's royal connection impressed fashion-conscious Victorians. Once accepted, Kriss Kringle's decorated evergreen grew faster than Jack's beanstalk — at least it grew fuller.

The Christmas tree of a well-to-do Victorian family, a symmetrical fir, was a miniature world of tiny houses, ships, animals, furniture, flowers, fruits, glags, dolls, drums and sugar plums — and much, much more. The introduction to America of store-bought ornaments made all of this splendor possible.

Commercial importation to the United States of German-made ornaments began as early as 1869. In that year, Harper's Bazaar described the "gloves, fruits, and flowers of colored glass, bright tin reflectors, and innumerable grotesque figures suspended by a rubber string... Bismarck leaping up Napoleon's shoulders..."

In 1871, a New York glassmaker, William De Muth, produced the first American-made silvered glass balls. The number and diversity of tin, wax, cardboard, candy and glass Christmas whimsies available by 1890 must have astonished even dedicated consumers like the Victorians.

A four-inch silver ocean liner had several hundred portholes, all its lifeboats and tiny cotton puffs of smoke rising from four smokestacks. But despite the plenty of this Christmas cornucopia, the average American family at the turn of the century still relied primarily on popcorn, cranberries, sweets and homemade ornaments to decorate its tree.

Universal acceptance of the Christmas tree, however, was not yet at hand. In 1883, a New York Times editor predicted that the Christmas tree, "a rootless and lifeless corpse," would soon disappear and that a return to the good old Christmas stocking of his childhood was imminent. Even the Times could be wrong. Not only did the Christmas tree grow in popularity, it grew in size. The floor-to-ceiling tree was an American innovation.

The Christmas tree grew in status as well. It has been bandied about that Franklin Pierce introduced the Christmas tree to the White House in 1856. Actually, Andrew Jackson had, for an 1835 White House Christmas party, a "small frosted pine tree with toy animals around it" — one of his French chef's famous ices.

During Theodore Roosevelt's occupancy of the White House the Christmas tree

came out of the closet. Teddy had put it there, fearing that the annual cutting of so many evergreens would deplete American forests. The ardent conservationist decreed there would be no White House Christmas tree. Like the New York Times, Theodore Roosevelt could be wrong.

The day after Christmas 1902, he revealed in a letter: "So their mother and I got up, shut the window, lit the fire, taking down the stockings, of course, put on our wrappers, and prepared to admit the children. But first there was a surprise for me, also for their good mother, for Archie had a little Christmas tree of his own, which he had rigged up with the help of one of the carpenters in a big closet; and we all had to look at the tree and each of us got a present off of it."

Officially, the White House continued to declare each year that there would be no presidential Christmas tree. Unofficially, the president allowed Archie to have a small tree in his own room, having been reassured by Gifford Pinchot, the foremost conservationist in the country, that proper cutting would not be harmful to forests.

Conservationists, however, continued to point to the dangers of denuding the roadsides and rural landscape and urged Christmas tree cultivation. At Hyde Park, in the 1930s, President Franklin D. Roosevelt became America's most famous Christmas tree farmer.

The Christmas tree tradition has long since been reestablished in the White House. "All I want is an old-fashioned American Christmas tree," first lady Nancy Reagan requested, when plans were being made for this year's White House tree. She will get her wish.

The shiny glass balls and hand-made paper animals and flowers will be red (and a number of other colors), the strings of popcorn will be white, and the Christmas tree itself will be on view at its familiar stand in the Blue Room.

The tree also will have something old, something new and something borrowed. The ornaments from the White House collection, including 100 balls with the names of individual states on them, will be dusted off and refurbished by volunteers and staff members.

Santa's White House helpers also will make lace and ribbon-bedecked foil paper cones and tiny reed baskets filled with herbs and potpourri. To insure that the tree will be properly old-fashioned, the Museum of American Folk Art in New York City is loaning the White House 200 19th- and early 20th-century ornaments.

Among these treasures of Christmas Past, no doubt, there will be dolls and drums. The White House will have to supply some sugar plums.
